DARK HORSE IS PROBABLE NEXT LEGION CHIEF

Dozen or More Candidates Are in Field But None Sure.
WILL BE MILITANT
Convention Gets Down to Selection of New Commander.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas, was today elected national commander of the American Legion.
Owsley received 574 votes; William E. Deegan of New York, 251; Col. "Joe" Thompson of Pennsylvania 205 and John A. McCormick of Colorado, 12.
New Orleans, Oct. 20.—Selection of a new national commander gripped the attention of the American Legion national convention here today while the so-called "conservative" element continued to view with chagrin the wrecking of their attempts to "boss" the former "dough boys" and "soft pedal" criticisms of the administration's soldier bonus and veterans hospitalization policies.
It was believed that whoever is chosen successor to Hanford MacNider, retiring national commander, will be as militant and outspoken as he is in his attitude toward the bonus, rehabilitation and other big problems, confronting the administration and the legion alike.
The last day of the convention found a dozen or more prospective candidates in the field. All night conferences and "trading" failed to develop sufficient strength for any one to claim enough votes to win on the first ballot. There were indications that the balloting might be long and uncertain with the possibility of a "dark horse" coming under the wire at the finish.
As the convention reassembled the two candidates apparently having the best chances of winning the national command were George L. Berry, of Tennessee, president of the national printing pressmen's union, and high in the councils of the American Federation of Labor, and Alvin M. Owsley, Texas, chairman of the legion's Americanization committee.
Wm. E. Deegan of New York, was believed to have been eliminated as a candidate although his boom was still much in evidence.
Col. J. H. Thompson and Wm. F. Healy, both of Pennsylvania, were among the others willing to become national commander if the lightning should strike them.

James Proffes, 22, in McClellan Hospital Suffering With Bullet Wound in His Hip as Result of Accident in Confectionary.

James Proffes, 22, is in McClellan Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the right hip, sustained when he accidentally shot himself while in the Princess Confectionary, Main and Detroit Streets, at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning.
Proffes was taken to the offices of Drs. W. H. and R. Kent inley, where Dr. Finley Sr., examined the wound.

FEDERAL JURY INDICTS 26 IN BOND THEFT CASE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—A Federal Grand Jury sitting here today returned indictments against 26 persons charging with being implicated in the nation wide disposal of stolen bonds, chief of which are said to be the bonds lost in a $2,500,000 mail robbery at New York, Oct. 24, 1921, and a $1,500,000 theft at Chicago on January 18, 1921.
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of Minneapolis, were the first arrested under the indictments. McCormick is former vice president and treasurer of Stevens and Company, bankrupt bond and investment house here and is now awaiting trial in the state district court on grand larceny charges in connection with a bond deal of the firm.
Those named in the indictments include attorneys, bankers, bond salesmen and brokers. The indictments are the result of months of investigation by federal officials in which operatives have combed Chicago, New York and other cities.
More than $500,000 of the bonds stolen in spectacular raids in eastern banking centers, have been circulated in Minneapolis authorities say may of them being purchased by innocent persons and deposited as collateral in financial transactions.

RUMOR DECLARES KAISER MARRIED

London, Oct. 20.—A rumor that the former German kaiser has been married to Princess Hermine of Reuss was circulated today by a Doorn, Holland, newspaperman who sent queries to newspapers in England, and on the continent saying: "Kaiser married, civil ceremony, today."
The original date of the marriage was November 5.

THOMPSON THINKS TAXPAYERS CAN BE SAVED BIG AMOUNT

Half Million Yearly Sum Suggested By Candidate.

Celina, Ohio, Oct. 20.—"I can, and will, as governor of Ohio, save the tax payers a half million dollars annually in conducting the state's public affairs by applying the same methods of efficiency and management to the state's business as I applied in successful and practical management of private business," declared Col. Carmi Thompson, Republican candidate for governor here today in an address.
"President Harding during 18 months of administration has salvaged from the financial and political wreck of national affairs the foundation for normal prosperity among the farming interests, the industrial and commercial lines and safeguarded these together with the jobs and wages of American workers by an adequate Republican protective tariff," Thompson continued. "He has reduced taxes, cut the cost of government and put more business in government."
"The result is apparent in the rising wave of prosperity and efficient functioning of our national government."
"Through the power of the vetoing as governor single items in an appropriation measure I will be able to prevent loose spending of public money. Taxes in Ohio can be reduced if business methods are applied to government. I will do just that."

CITY FIREMAN ARRESTED

Dayton, O., Oct. 20.—Francis Garvey, a city fireman, is held in jail here today charged with being a bandit. He was arrested at 4 o'clock this morning while in bed, for "sticking up" William McCullough at 11 o'clock last night. He and his pal who escaped got $27.32, when McCullough opened the cash register. A receipt dropped on the floor of the road house led to Garvey's detention.

EIGHT MINERS INSTANTLY KILLED

McCurtain, Okla., Oct. 20.—Eight miners were instantly killed here today in an explosion at the Blue Ridge mine, four others were perhaps fatally injured and four seriously.
All of the men were miners. No officials of the mine were caught in the explosion. All of them were married.

FIRE IS SMALL

Small loss was entailed when sparks from a flue fired the roof of the home of Karl Buck, Chestnut and Maple streets at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals, and the loss is not expected to exceed $15.

WOMEN TO DECIDE FATE OF WOMAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—That women will play an important part in determining the fate of Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer murderer" was evident today when she went to trial in Superior Judge Houser's court before a morbid crowd that packed the courtroom to the door, charged with having beaten to death pretty Mrs. Alberta Meadows, July 12 last in Loney Montecito drive.
The panel from which the jury will be selected contains about the same number of women as men.

RESOURCES OF OHIO BANKS GREATEST IN STATE HISTORY

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Declaration that the resources and deposits of Ohio banks under state supervision are the greatest in the history of the state was made here today by State Supt. of Banks Scott. Supt. Scott said that resources of these banks now total $1,548,396,710, exceeding by nearly $30,000,000 the previous high mark, made Dec. 31, 1920, when resources totalled, $1,518,679,471.
Deposits of these banks aggregate $1,327,446,891, an advance of more than $58,000,000 over the previous high peak, also made on Dec. 31, 1920, when deposits reached $1,269,000,000 Supt. Scott announced.
"These unprecedented gains, recording the most remarkable increases ever made in the history of the state by banks subject to its supervision, are shown by a statement prepared from reports made by these banks under the call for Sept. 15, last," said Supt. Scott.
This splendid showing, signifies that basic economic and industrial conditions are vastly improved, that the business outlook is decidedly encouraging and that the era of prosperity which the department of banks, in a statement issued last spring, declared had set in, is now here in force, with every promise of continuing for a long period.

BORROWED BABIES AND CLAIMED THEM AS OWN IS REPORT

Mother of "Mystery Twins" Had Fondness for Children Very Young

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 20.—Significant revelations that are bound to have a tremendous bearing on the trial of Hazel McNally, mother of Hammond's "mystery twins" were unearthed today.
The most striking of these discoveries are as follows:
1.—At the age of 16 years Mrs. McNally who was then Hazel Mills, borrowed numerous babies in the vicinity of the tenement house in which she lived at 2829 Calumet avenue and claimed the borrowed babies as her own.
2.—Five different witnesses are willing to testify that at this time she was frequently seen in the narrow hallways of the building sewing baby clothes, which she gave to the borrowed babies.
3.—That on one occasion when a baby was not to be had she picked up a puppy dog and dressed it in baby clothes, borrowed a baby buggy and wheeled it around the neighborhood.
4.—That she frequented the baby ward of the Hahnemann Hospital for the purpose of fondling the children until she became a nuisance and the authorities forbade her to come again. She circumvented the ruling by appearing at the hospital dressed in a nurse's uniform, representing herself to be a visiting nurse from Mercy Hospital.

IS NEW PREMIER OF GREAT BRITAIN

Andrew Bonar Law, former British Cabinet member and Government leader in the House of Commons has accepted the premiership of Great Britain succeeding Lloyd George who resigned Thursday.
Andrew Bonar Law has long been prominent in British politics. He was the Government leader in the House of Commons and represented the British Government at the Peace Conference in Paris in 1919. He was born in Brunswick, Canada, in 1858 and received his education there and in Glasgow High School.

London, Oct. 20.—Andrew Bonar Law who is attempting to form a new British cabinet told International News Service that he will ask for immediate dissolution of parliament if he is elected leader of the unionist party Monday. He said that there had been a rearrangement of plans and that he would not see King George before Monday.

SEEK WRECKERS OF TRAIN; TWO DEAD, 8 HURT

Fast Wabash Flyer Ditched—Spikes Are Out of Track.

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 20.—Charles Schmugge, an engineer was killed and seven persons seriously injured when a fast Wabash flyer was ditched near here early today.
An investigation of peculiar aspects of the wreck was begun at once.
It was learned that H. T. Smith, baggage master of Toledo, had died of injuries and burns received in the wreck.
Investigation revealed that spikes and bolts had been taken out and laid at the side of the track before the crash took place.
Fireman John Hinton, who was only slightly injured, said he saw the track with a section of the rail missing, but that it was too late to stop the train.
A posse which included the county sheriff and a number of railroad detectives are combing the countryside in an effort to find the train wreckers.

GAIN REPORTED IN DRUG HABIT IN U. S.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Growth of the narcotic drug habit and of bootleg liquor drinking was indicated today by the prohibition unit of the treasury in reports from all parts of the country.
Arrests this year of 42,000 Volstead law offenders is an increase of 10,000 over the year 1921. Aggregate fines imposed upon violators amounted to $3,000,000.
A sixty five per cent increase in the number of narcotic law violators also was announced. The number of convictions obtained, however, showed a 100 per cent increase over last year, officials said.

BRITISH CRISIS IS WATCHED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

American Government Will Witness Policy Change With Anxiety.

FEAR NEW PROGRAM

Lloyd George is Last Big Four at Paris to Fall.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The British political crisis almost overshadowed the congressional elections in point of general interest in Washington today.
Despite the obvious disinclination of administration officials to comment upon the internal policies of a friendly power, it was apparent today that the American government will follow the formation of a new British government with intense interest, not unmingled with some anxiety.
While not vitally affected by the upheaval in British politics, the American government nevertheless is indirectly affected in a score of matters requiring cooperation and understanding between London and Washington. For six years the United States has had to deal with a man and a set of policies that invariably sought closer Anglo-American relations. Whether a new premier and a Tory cabinet, with its Tory traditions of imperialism, is to continue those policies was a matter of intense interest today to administration officials.
Nowhere in Washington was there any greater interest in the downfall of Lloyd George than at 2340 S. street, where Woodrow Wilson lives in lonely solitude and views the world in retrospect.
Mr. Wilson is said to have been considerably surprised by the resignation of his old colleague of Versailles. When the news was brought to him, however, he is said to have merely smiled and remarked:
"Well, well, he did last a long while, didn't he?"
The little Welsh premier was the last of the famous big four at Paris, to fall before the political disapproval of his people. Orlando, Clemenceau, Wilson and now Lloyd George.

As viewed by administration officials the most important aspect of the change in governments in London is the effect it will have on Franco-British relations. The French, under Poincare, and the British under Lloyd George have steadily been drifting apart, so much so, in fact, that one prominent American official said today:
"The Franco-British entente no longer exists in fact."
First on Germany, then on Russia, and finally on Turkey, the breach between London and Paris has widened steadily.
American officials apparently were somewhat divided today as to the course the new British Premier, Andrew Bonar Law, can be expected to take toward France and continental Europe in general. Some observers ascribed the little Welshman's downfall to the fact that he was constantly quarreling with France, and consequently his successor could be expected to follow a more conciliatory policy. Others, however, recalled that Bonar Law publicly advocated the formal breaking of the entente with France no longer than three weeks ago.
The British embassy here probably will be unaffected by the political shake up. Sir Auckland Geddes, the ambassador, is considered in England to have made an enviable record in Washington and the consensus in diplomatic and official quarters today was that he would continue to represent Great Britain. No change is looked for either in Great Britain's announced policy of paying "to use last year's" aid, or some $15,000,000 to the United States. The funding negotiations may be slightly delayed by the political turn over but it is frankly anticipated that the Tory government will be even more zealous than was the coalition government for an early adjustment of the debt situation.

George Harvey, American ambassador at St. James, has cabled a report on the political situation to the state department for the guidance of President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes.

RESTRICTIONS TAKEN OFF FREIGHT TRAFFIC

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Effective today all restrictions on freight traffic originating on its own lines, with the exception of the northern grand division which embraces Buffalo, the Allegheny and the Navajo divisions were entirely removed it was announced today by the Pennsylvania system.
"This means" the announcement said, "that restrictions upon the acceptance of freight which originated at points located on the Pennsylvania lines, out of Altoona, Renova and Buffalo, destined to points east thereof are removed entirely."

FINES ARE ARRESTED

Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—Fine aggregating more than $28,000 have been assessed in the last two days by Judge A. M. J. Cochran in United States Court, now in session at Covington, Ky. The penalties were distributed among 91 persons.

BIBLICAL PLAY THURSDAY MARKED BY GOOD ACTING

A good sized audience of Xenia play patrons, witness an offering quite out of the ordinary with the general characters of plays presented in the city, with the staging of "A Dream of Queen Esther" presented at the City Hall Theater, Thursday night by the Aldora Chapter, No. 262 Order of the Eastern Star.

The good selection of parts for the play, the vivid colorings, and staging, and the strict following of the story of Esther as given in the Bible, went to make up the success of the play. Of the cast of forty-four characters, several parts were outstanding in the dramatic offering, each character lending valuable talent to the plot.

Four Dayton people, aided the local talent, C. E. Greenwood being cast as Mordecai, the captive Jew, Miss Miriam Hoebner, as Esther, while Mrs. Susan H. Wulst assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Miller, of Dayton, directed the play and were in charge of every detail and the stage setting.

The plot of the play of Biblical exactness, was laid in three acts, several beautiful tableaux being an added feature of the program. The cast of the play included a number of children who handled their parts well.

Mrs. Edward Norris, was general chairman of the play, while Mrs. J. C. Denham was stage manager. Music was furnished by the Xenia orchestra while the piano number during the play were rendered by Miss Doris Meahl.

The members of the Aldora Chapter hope to have an even larger audience with the second presentation of the play, Friday night. Tickets are still on sale at the Sohn Drug Store, children to be admitted for twenty-five cents.

DESCRIPTION OF GOWNS AT NEW YORK WEDDING GIVEN

Xenians will be interested in the account of the wedding of Miss Hone Augustus Meeks, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Connable, of New York, and a niece of Mr. Frank Connable, well known here, at Wakefield Worcester, which is given in the magazine "Women's Wear" received by all modistes, appearing in the October issue.

The account gives particular importance to the gowns worn by the bride and her attendants, as the following:

"The bride's gown was of ivory satin, showing a draped skirt trimmed with point lace insertions, lace sleeves were elbow length and a court train of ivory net was finished at the hem with a deep point of satin set on with point lace.

The veil of tulle fell from the back of the head where it was gathered into a wreath of orange blossoms.

"The maid of honor wore a deep salmon colored chiffon velvet draped model with long skirt, one side train and silver girdle, round neck and no sleeves. Her hat was of black velvet with a wide brim trimmed with a cluster of shaded salmon ostrich feathers at one side.

"The other attendants wore a lighter shade of salmon colored chiffon trimmed with wide bands of silver lace from shoulders to hem and girdles of silver ribbon. Their hats were shaded salmon colored velvet with a silver lace brim. All the attendants wore silver slippers and carried bouquets of salmon colored dahlias and field flowers tied with silver ribbons.

Mrs. Connable the bride's grandmother wore pale gray chiffon velvet with plain skirt and court train, a hat of gray velvet and silver lace, and a corsage of orchids. Among the smart frocks were many of black and colored velvet, both plain and brocaded and cashmere, and other wool materials, trimmed with velvet and fur.

"Brown, blue and sumac were the leading colors, and the silhouette, without exception long and slender. Several dresses were almost sleeveless and the round neck unusually low.

"Hats were, generally speaking, small, more colored than black particularly in blue, sumac and henna. "As the afternoon was cool, many smart wraps were worn in mink, velvet and fur over the light dresses of crepe, velvet and chiffon.

"There were more brown and blue velvet dresses at the reception and many in the light shades of tan in chiffon and in brocaded velvet, with the accessories matching. Fur and embroidery were the trimmings and much ermine with black."

CHURCH SOCIETY TO GIVE HALLOWEEN PARTY
The Young People's Society of Christ Episcopal Church will hold a Halloween party at the Parish House, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

A varied program has been arranged by the entertainment committee. Decorations will be in keeping with the occasion. Part of the evening will be devoted to the sale of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, etc., the proceeds of which will go towards securing a motion picture projector.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT EVENING PARTY

Fifty invited guests were entertained at a delightful evening party at the home of Miss Mary Kelble, on South West street, Thursday evening were given a surprise, in the nature of the announcement of the engagement of Mr. John Kelble, and Miss Estella Welch, of Dayton.

The guests of the evening were entertained during the time with progressive euchre, a delicious two course luncheon following. During the luncheon, a card contained in an envelope was presented to one of the guests, who read the announcement of Miss Welsh and Mr. Kelble's engagement.

The wedding of Miss Welsh and Mr. Kelble will be an event of November 14. Miss Welsh formerly resided in this city, and now lives in Dayton. She is the daughter of Mr. John Welsh, former Xenian, now located in Mexico. Mr. Kelble is employed in Dayton, and the couple will reside in that city following their marriage.

Mrs. Edwin Snell of Hill Street, was removed to the McClellan hospital, Wednesday, to undergo a course of treatment.

THIRTEEN CHURCHES OF XENIA PRESBYTERIAL REPRESENTED AT FORTY FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION AT THE SECOND U. P. CHURCH

A large and appreciative assembly of women delegates from the thirteen churches of the Xenia Presbyterian attended the forty-fourth annual convention held at the Second United Presbyterian Church, Thursday.

Dr. Thomas Lambe, who is opening up a new mission field in Abyssinia, or Ethiopia of old, described in his most interesting way that country, its products, people, and the government of the land. Because of his medical work, and his being an American, Dr. Lambe had gained an entrance into the very heart of this field, heretofore closed against missionary agencies.

Conditions underneath the establishment of a strong and well equipped mission under the supervision of this consecrated man were eloquently described by the speaker.

Miss Hallie Q. Brown, of Wilberforce University, gave a splendid address on "The Trend of the Races," dealing with the progress of the colored race toward Christian Civilization, the development of the Negro being fully discussed.

A questionnaire contest pertaining to the missionary activities of the United Presbyterian Church, proved to be an interesting as well as instructive feature of the program when fifty-six of the women responded, to the questions propounded by Mrs. L. L. Gray.

Reports from the various secretaries of the district indicated a good year, the report of the thank offering secretary along showing that $2,200 has been received during the year. A clever pageant "Thanksgiving Ann" was ably presented by the two young women of the Neil Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Columbus.

Mrs. J. P. White, who for the past year, of the organization, succeeding Mrs. P. White, who for the past two years has served the Presbyterian.

Other officers elected to serve on the district organization were: first vice-president, Mrs. McClure, second vice president, Mrs. S. R. Jamieson; recording sec'y: Miss Dorothy Collins; corresponding secretary: Mrs. Vernon McCall; treasurer, Miss Sarah J. Reid, thank offering, secretary, Mrs. F. P. Hastings, young women's secretary, Mrs. M. W. Van Eaton, junior secretary, Miss Myrtle Lackey; temperance secretary: Mrs. Lucy Barber, literature secretary, Mrs. J. W. Ballentyne, associate secretary, Mrs. J. E. Kyle.

One of the most important features of the day's program was the sectional conference, the conference of the junior department, being led by Miss Myrtle Lackey, of Jamestown, while the Young women's dept. was led by Mrs. Herman Eavey, and the Women's Missionary Society by Mrs. A. A. Thompson, of Columbus.

A clever part of the program was staged by sixteen women of the Second United Presbyterian Church, who presented a parody on "The Old Oak Bucket," boosting the Woman's Missionary Magazine, their dresses and hats being made of the missionary Magazine.

The evening thank offering service was in charge of Mrs. D. R. Hoague, $2,116.22, being the amount of the year's thank offering pledged. The women of the Second United Presbyterian Church served free meals to the two hundred out of town delegates at the convention.

The convention adjourned in the evening to meet next year in Clifton. Workers and officers of the organization are giving much credit to the women of the Second United Presbyterian Church, for their hospitality and assistance with the program, which aided in making the day a success.

A new "hydro-glider," just completed on the west coast, is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is said to provide all the thrill and speed of a hydroplane gliding over the surface of the ocean. In fact it amounts practically to a flying boat without wings, and is driven over the surface of the water by an air-propelled motor at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

EUROPE MUST PAY WAR DEBTS TO U. S., HOOVER DECLARES.

Secretary Hoover, a member of the Allied Debt Commission, in an address at Toledo, Monday, laid down what was regarded as the policy of the Harding Administration on the $11,500,000,000 owed to America by European nations.

All hope of debt cancellation was blasted by Mr. Hoover and arguments for further postponement of interest payments fell under the weight of his logic. The debts, he said, were owing not to the Government but to the American taxpayers and must be paid. With peace in Europe, he said, payment in full would not be difficult. Repudiation of the debts, he declared would "undermine the whole fabric of international good faith."

"America earnestly wishes to be helpful to Europe," said Mr. Hoover, "but economic matters require a degree of realism that will do justice to the American people as well as be helpful to peoples abroad."

The loans were made at the urgent request of the individual borrowing nations under their solemn assurances of re-payment, and have no relation to other nations or other debts, Mr. Hoover emphasized. He also stressed the fact that American taxpayers did not participate in reparations and acquired no territory or other benefits, as did the European debtor nations.

"There is no question as to the moral or contractual obligation," he said. "The repudiation of these loans would undermine the whole fabric of international good faith. I do not believe any public official either of the United States or any other country could or should approve their cancellation. Certainly I do not."

"If there be some of these countries who should be relieved of the annual payments for a few years or in order to promote economic stability," Mr. Hoover declared, "then there needs be a demonstration of the facts in respect to each individual country that would be convincing to the American taxpayer."

REAPING WITHOUT SOWING.

Pomeroy neighbors of an elderly couple named Krause have lost over $300,000, the Krauses "borrowed" on promise of investment at high profits for the lenders.

Thus more bubbles burst. Was it only last year that Ponzi was exposed?

There is an inherent dishonesty in the gambling theory, seldom understood by beginners in this losing game. They have a vague idea that the money to be won just grew of itself, and it's only a matter of luck who gets it.

But somebody earned the money, and the man who "just picks it up" is cheating persons who sweated for it in the first instance. The path back to the earner may be indirect, but it always exists. Perhaps if the young person, hesitating on the brink of risking savings on a "sure thing" or an "inside tip" will stop to ask whether, even if he wins, he quite wishes to get someone else's savings in this manner, it will give the process a different aspect.

The gambling principle, reduced to its primary terms, is thievery, often disguised in subtle and almost unrecognizable ways, it is true, but thievery none the less.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Those to whom no heavy responsibilities are committed are, as a rule, those who are afraid of them or unequal to them.

Many a man is willing to accept a smaller wage and an humbler station so that he may enjoy the privilege of knocking a boss or passing the buck to the man higher up.

As long as he is a subordinate he can tell the world how much better he would do things if he were in supreme command. "If I only had my way," he blusters, "things would be very different."

But he does not really want the leading, directing, designing place for which he is not fit.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" is true for more business than that of being a king.

It means the head of any going concern has to carry a burden his payroll does not share.

He has to find the money. He has to fight the market. He has to face competitors anxious to do him in and plow him under. Worry may rob him of sleep while the underling knocks off at 5 and presents himself at the window on payday and shuts work out of his mind entirely when he is not on the job.

Nothing is easier than to denounce a man who is doing something for doing it wrong. To help him carry the load is harder than to talk against him.

It sometimes seems a mystery why men seek power when we observe the penalty they must pay for eminence in the calumny they draw upon themselves. A spotless name is not created overnight; it takes a long time to build, and there are those who will snatch it from us in an instant if they can. Gossip that wrecks, rumor that brands, is the sort that socially is preferred. Whether one rules a country, or an industrial enterprise, or a church, or any other institution, one must expect to be assailed by tongues that wag, and are vindictive, and desire to create a sensation rather than to communicate the truth.

The responsible thus are pilloried by the irresponsible; the industrious are defamed by the lazy; the patriots are lampooned and decry by some utterly wanting in the readiness to serve or sacrifice.

Yet there are always those who for duty's sake will take up their cross and carry it. They do not love power because they court men's wonder and men's praise. They are so constituted that they are not content with sinecures, the cushioned places, the safe berths. Those who like to hide, and be secure, and drowse in the shade, always will provide the ambitious with plenty to do.

AND IT WAS ONLY A LITTLE WHILE BACK SHE WAS REFUSING TO RECOGNIZE HIM IN PUBLIC

The Xenia High School football team was to have played Antioch College at Xenia Saturday, but as Antioch did not fill the engagement and Xenia has been trying to get a game with Jamestown. They wish to get all the practice possible as they have several strong teams to play later in the season.

The faculty at Willforce University granted the boys permission to play football and they are a jolly set and are improving all the time.

The sixth annual reunion of the ex-soldiers and sailors of Greene county will be held at the Opera House in this city on Oct. 23.

Miss Clara Conner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Conner who reside north of Jamestown took her departure this morning for a long journey and at its end will meet her future husband, Mr. Stonaker, who is located at Los Angeles, Cal. The prospective groom was formerly a resident of the vicinity of Jamestown and the young people became acquainted that way.

FIVE PIQUA REGULARS OUT OF GAME FRIDAY

When Piqua High School football team met the Central High Eleven at the Fairgrounds gridiron Friday afternoon, five Piqua regulars were out of the game.

In policy with his plans to have a well-behaved team, Coach Raymond Mote, of the Piqua squad, suspended five regulars for smoking and violating other training rules. The players taken out of the lineup were, Edge, Magee, Tillman, Buettner and Eby all of them regulars.

As a result of the suspension order, Piqua fans believed Friday they were considerably handicapped in entering the game with Xenia.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1824, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-broker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peaky, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical. S. S. S. Makes you feel the surest way to get right weight.

USING MAKE-UP.

"Dolly V." wants to know whether she will be thought a fast young lady if she tints her cheeks with rouge and employs a lipstick. She has blue eyes and should have a pink skin, she has blonde hair and naturally covets the pink that go with her type.

As for the lipstick, I can't imagine why she wants it, except that a shop different matter. Not one woman in a thousand can paint her lips to look well. Besides even the best lipsticks are somewhat messy, the color comes off on one's handkerchief or the table napkin or even the cheek of the girl you enthusiastically rush to embrace. Lipsticks should be used only to protect sensitive lips from bad weather, and in that case the cream should be white or tinted no deeper than the natural color of the lips.

Maisy.—Blackheads that fester show there is impurity in the blood which the skin is trying to throw off. If your digestion is sluggish, it would likely cause such a condition. Cleanse the system and build up your health. In addition cleanse the pores with blackhead powder.

M. J. S.—As you have had this disfiguring lump for two years, it cannot be a pimple or it would have feasted and cleared itself in a short time. Your description of it with the brown head would indicate that it is a mole. In any case, consult a dermatologist.

Tomorrow—Boudoirs and Bathrooms

ASK REPORT ON SEIZURE OF SHIP

Washington, Oct. 19.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today called upon Prohibition Commissioner Haynes for report on the seizure of the Canadian Emerald, which the British government has made the basis of a protest to the state department, contending that the vessel was seized outside the three mile limit. The report will be submitted to Secretary of State Hughes.

she passes every day displays, she says, such fascinating ones in its window. I know the fatal fascination of these beauty shops—those little jars of cream and pots of pomade, and bottles of perfume are always so alluring!

I don't in the least see why little Miss Dolly should not make her own cheeks, pink since Nature has unkindly omitted to it for her. I am aware of the fact that I shall have six letters of protest tomorrow morning, four of them probably from old gentlemen who never wanted their cheeks pink and consequently cannot see why any attractive young girl should. Nevertheless, when I answered Dolly's letter I told her to use rouge but with the warning that only the blithest bit was to be put on, and that little so deftly that only an expert could tell its artificiality.

As for the lipstick, that's rather a

WRONG METHODS.

"You must pay me higher wages," says the toiler, Richard Roe, "or a dozen battle-gages in your whiskers I will throw. You employers in high places try to balk the men who sweat; you may grind some fellows' faces, but you can't grind mine, you bet." Says the haughty, stern employer, "If you'd quit, why go ahead; you are but the fool destroyer of the job that brings you bread. You may quit and go to thunder, quit forever and a day; I will not be trodden under by you lads who work for pay." Thus they always rag each other, when some differences rise; they can't meet as man and brother, light of kindness in their eyes. We should meet as friendly neighbors when a grievance is in sight, and the artisan who labors might be pleasant and polite; and the man who pays the wages might show patience in his gaze; that would beat the foolish rages that too often he displays. Energy is badly wasted when we kick each other's slats; let the golden rule be pasted on the lining of our hats.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

MOVE!

When we move, we think. And when we think, the world moves. And then, because the world does move, we must think. So think—and move! Rain and trains wait for no man. So, if you want to keep dry and if you want to travel on time, move.

Suppose you get stumbling and fall occasionally? Move! Get yourself up, pull yourself together, and then keep right on moving—up, forward, straight ahead.

Is your competitor pushing you? Is he behind you trying to crowd by and get ahead? Well, he can't if you just keep moving. And if you move fast enough he will soon tire of the pace you set.

Columbus moved a little further west than the others—and discovered America. Lincoln moved a little further along in thought when he said that no nation could exist half slave, half free—and he led a nation into eternal harmony. Edison moves with thought, and hand—and science is enriched, you and I are made happier and more comfortable the world progresses. The men who count—move.

Keep moving. As straight as you can—but move. Don't wait to be pushed—you might be pushed over. Move by yourself and for yourself. And if the goal you reach isn't the goal you want why—move again.

This day will never come again. Your work can never be done by anyone else. And your time is now. You will miss it, you will lose your chance—and your share, unless you move—now—and keep right on moving.

Dodge the ditch of Wait-awhile. Jump the wall of What's-the-use. Snap your fingers at the ghost of I-never-had-a-chance. Laugh at the sign of red-impassable and take the detour of Determination. Keep moving right along.

There's plenty of room up front.

JAMESTOWN

Word has been received of the death of James Scott Turnbull, 77, former Jamestown resident, who died in Viola, Kansas, Sept. 15. Funeral services were conducted at the United Presbyterian Church, Sunday, Sept. 17, and interment made at the Viola Cemetery.

Mr. Turnbull was a brother of J. L. Turnbull of Jamestown and was born in Jamestown, March 21, 1845, where he grew to manhood. Of a large family, of four boys and six girls, the one brother, Joseph L. Turnbull of Jamestown, is the only one surviving and was present at his brother's bedside when he died.

Mr. Turnbull graduated from Westminster College in 1871 and from the Xenia Theological Seminary in 1876. On completing his theological course he went to Wichita, Kansas, and after serving the United Presbyterian Church at Wichita for one year he was called to the Viola Community and in the fall of 1876 organized what was then known as the Ninnescah, but now as the Villa, United Presbyterian congregation. He was installed as a pastor of the congregation at the time and continued in this relationship until 1907.

He was married in Kansas, Oct. 22, 1874, to Miss Abbie D. Haskins who passed away April 1882. He was united in marriage to Mrs. Lillie J. Orr, Oct. 24, 1899, who passed away three years ago.

WHAT MR. HARDING WILL DO.

(News brought by Special Carrier Pigeon.)

The cabinet held its first meeting yesterday. There were present Mr. Harding, Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Hays and several other gentlemen whose names we do not seem to recall on the spur of the moment.

After reading all the newspaper reports carefully, we are able to give the following definite and concise, not to say intelligent, report of the session.

After the members had been introduced all around and had mumbled one another's names so as not to make any embarrassing errors, Mr. Hughes made a report on his attitude toward the war between Panama and Costa Rica. We don't know what it was he said.

Then Mr. Harding said what he would like to do in regard to this war. What he said has not been revealed.

Then there was a general discussion of the situation in Russia. We don't know a word they said, but we believe the situation in Russia is critical. It always is that, we are reliably informed.

Mr. Coolidge said something about the league of nations. It was hot stuff, take it from us, but you'll have to guess what it was.

From information we have gleaned from the cabinet meeting we are prepared to say that Harding will continue to play golf as usual while president. We hope we are betraying no confidence in mentioning this. Also, he will attend the Baptist church and will have grapefruit for breakfast three times a week.

When he wants to go anywhere he will not call a taxicab, but will use one of the White House automobiles.

These policies have already been made public and may be relied upon. As other important matters are revealed in future cabinet meetings we will report them.

The center of population still lingers in Indiana, but it would be different if the Indiana authors moved out.

We note that the following "well known" Russians are at the head of the Petrograd uprising:

Petrichenko, Yagovlenko, Savachenko, Putillin and Engineer Oyleskin.

Which leads us to wonder how some of the names become well known. After the Russians learn the names of their leaders, it is time to start another revolution.

The only one we remember having heard of before is Oyleskin, whose name sounds strangely familiar, perhaps because we once spent considerable time at Gloucester among the fishermen.

If it comes to electing a permanent president we hope Oyleskin gets it.

We see that a New York woman demands a divorce from a rich furrier. At first glance we would say that when any woman wants to separate herself from a rich furrier she is exemplifying the greatest case of abnegation on record.

One Wellington man has finally attained one of his boyhood ambitions, according to the "News." When he was a boy and had to undergo the home-made haircut he frequently wished that he might be bald-headed.

Our apartment house superintendent has made one valuable ruling lately. He has ordered that no Fords be parked in the hallways.

had the management of the Bell Street. Telephone exchange left Wednesday for Dayton where she will be employed in the Exchange.

Mrs. Daisy Hartsock has accepted the management of the local exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Adams are moving to their new home on Main Street.

Mrs. Russell Hiatt and little daughter are spending the week in Dayton.

Several Spring Valley houses have been divided making space for two families so that more houses are vacant in town at the present time than there has been for several years.

SCHOOL FEEDING PLAN MEETS WITH INITIAL SUCCESS

The plan of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the Xenia city schools, to feed the children of the first three grades is meeting with a decided success, with the adoption of the plans by the members of the Central Parent-Teacher Association, and the McKinley Association at the meetings held by the two organizations, Thursday afternoon.

The McKinley organization voted to inaugurate the plan, of feeding the children a half pint of milk and two graham crackers daily for a period of one month, and if at the end of that time, the plan meets with success and can be financed the feeding will be continued.

The Central organization also adopted the plan, the members feeling confident that it will meet with permanent success, and the organization will start the feeding November 6.

Mrs. J. W. Stevens, one of the delegates from the association to the State meeting, held at Columbus, Ohio, recently, gave an interesting talk before the members of the McKinley of nutrition, as discussed at the Columbus session. Mrs. Stevens talked of the decision of the members in adopting the local feeding plan. The program of the McKinley Parent-Teacher meeting, included a song number by Mrs. Arthur Perrell, and refreshments.

Mrs. Margaret Kelley, public health nurse for the Social Service League, gave an interesting address before the members of the Central organization on the subject of nutrition, her explanation of this important phase in a child's life being received with interest by the mothers and teachers.

The Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the city is making plans to present a home talent play in November, plans for an offering being presented by a representative of a play house in the south. The plans of the Federation also include a market to be held Saturday, October 28.

TAKES POISON IN THEATER

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—Subject to epileptic fits and fearing that his fiancée would break their engagement because of the affliction from which he suffered, Gordon Wylis, 25, swallowed poison in a downtown motion picture theater last night and is in a critical condition at the hospital as a result. The girl, Miss Hazel Lovett, and her brother were with him at the time and Miss Lovett declared that she would marry him as planned on Saturday if he recovered.

Wilbur Le Gette, a traveling salesman, declared in Los Angeles, he is the man referred to by Asa G. Candier, Atlanta, Ga., Coca Cola king, as having been the man Mrs. Onézime de Bouchelle of New Orleans, Candier's jilted fiancée, asked to enter her room in an Atlanta hotel.

Le Gette asserts that the charge is untrue and that he will defend Mrs. Bouchelle's reputation.

MILK, THE GREATEST FOOD

Marked improvements have been made in methods of keeping it fresh

In the preservation of foods, an art which has reached considerable perfection in these days, it is interesting to note how important a part is played by opposite forces of nature. For instance, after milk is obtained from the cow, it is necessary to reduce it to low temperature so as to inhibit the growth of bacteria.

Later, however, an opposite plan is essential. By prolonged heating of the milk in a moderately high temperature the bacteria or germs which are unhealthful are killed and the milk, unchanged in its digestibility is rendered safe for use by the infant or invalid.

Both of these methods are used in their simplest form in the preparation of Horlick's Malted Milk, so as to obtain the highest purity of the food. The absence of moisture is an efficient safeguard against the growth of bacteria and it also makes the product capable of being taken easily to all parts of the world.

It was no little achievement of Horlick, who originated malted milk, to make a product which retains all the nutritive value of malted grain and rich milk and which produces at a moment's notice a food-drink that is sustaining, invigorating and also delicious to the taste.

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

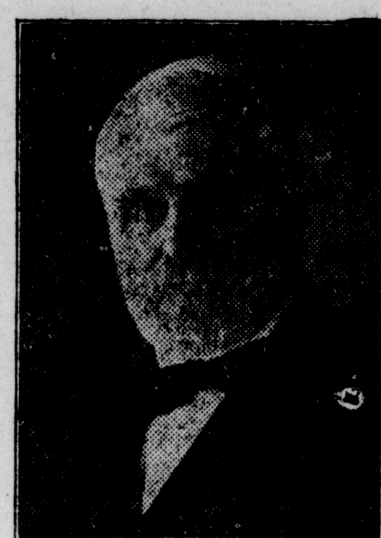

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 25 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER $10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 84th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 615 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

FOOTBALL CONTESTS ARE SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY THIS WEEK

Because of interest in the Michigan-Ohio State football game Saturday and the desire of many college athletes in Ohio to be on hand when these two Western conference gladiators get together, a number of important week-end games this week are being played on Friday.

This fact divides interest for the week end, for Ohio Conference fans can watch the program of the Ohio championship campaign on Friday without detracting from their interest in the stadium celebration at Columbus. Many Xenia and Greene County people will be on hand when Ohio and Michigan tangle Saturday in the presence of 63,000 spectators.

The Friday Ohio conference games that will claim interest before the Big Ten battles, are the Wittenberg-Denison clash at Granville, the Otterbein-Wooster argument and the Kenyon and Mt. Union set-to. Of these the Wittenberg-Denison fracas is probably the most important. Wittenberg is undefeated, and a beating now would put the Lutheran's out of the running. Denison was whalloped by Ohio University last week and with nothing to lose and everything to gain, the Baptists will fight like Tarzans. The unexpected strength shown by Otterbein will make it necessary for Wooster to use everything it has in this contest, and Coach Boles will not take any chances with the Westerville combination. The Kenyon and Mt. Union game will be of lesser importance.

Saturday's principal affair in Ohio Conference circles will be the Ohio Wesleyan-Cincinnati game at Cincinnati. The Methodists are undefeated in the conference and the Bear Cats have not yet played a conference game and were defeated in their three starts against other combinations. Coach Faclaren's gridders have sworn not to shave until they have scored a touchdown and the Barber College alumni will be out rooting for them strong to beat the Delaware gang.

Miami will play Ohio Northern at Oxford, and Miami will find a tougher battle than expected on its hands, it is said. Oberlin should have little trouble with little Hiram Saturday, the Hiram crowd being pretty well battered up anyway. Ohio University should make short work of Western Reserve, as the Clevelanders have been taking the short end of the score everywhere. The Akron-Case battle is of little importance as they both are out of the championship running.

St. Xavier's will play St. Ignatius of Cleveland, a non-conference team, but a win for the Cincinnati eleven will give it the Catholic championship of Ohio. Muskingum is also meeting a non-conference team in Broadus and should win handily. Wilmington is playing its week end game at Wilmington with Kentucky Wesleyan.

Dopesters figure Harvard to wallop Little Centre in the east Saturday in the one out-standing intersectional clash. The meeting will be the third, each team having won one game. If Harvard wins, athletic relations will probably be severed between these two teams.

COUNTRY STILL NEEDS GOOD FIVE CENT CIGAR SAYS MARSHALL; MEANING MISUNDERSTOOD

Washington, Oct. 20.—Thomas Riley Marshall, former vice president of the United States now back in governmental harness as a member of the coal fact finding commission after a vacation since March 4, 1921, is still looking for that "good five cent cigar."

"I never have found it," sighed the sage of the Wabash today. "I've travelled lots of miles, and probably had a million cigars sent me since I remarked that what this country needs was a good five-cent cigar but it is still elusive."

The former vice president pulled thoughtfully on a cigar that cost 15 cents.

"You know," he said, "that remark of mine has been wholly misinterpreted."

"What I meant by saying that what this country needed was a good five cent cigar was this: "We all of us, should quit living so high."

"Trouble is that for the last few years we have all been advocating industry and thrift for our neighbors while we continued to live high. 'Work and save' is all right for the other fellow, but it loses some of its attraction when personally applied."

"The five cent cigar was what you reporting fellows call a figure of speech for getting down to earth, bucking down to thrift and work."

"Haven't circumstances pretty much caused people to do that?" he was asked.

"I haven't noticed it," was his dry

rejoinder. "You'll notice that every American must have his flivver these days."

"This country still needs that same old five cent cigar."

CAMPAIGN AGAINST BEER AMENDMENT IN OHIO STARTED

Columbus, O.—(Special.)—The dries of Ohio have their campaign against the beer amendment in full swing. Organizations have been formed in all the counties under the direction of the Ohio Dry Federation. Those in charge of dry organization work declare the people are stirred as much as in the great state campaigns leading up to prohibition.

Hundreds of community meetings are being held each week. For the most part these meetings are addressed by local speakers, often by women. In fact, according to dry leaders, the women are leading in enthusiasm and in determination to defeat the beer amendment.

The state is being blanketed with dry literature giving the reasons why the beer amendment should be defeated. Millions of pages of this printed matter is being carried to the voters. The Ohio Dry Federation is distributing a couple of million sample amendment ballots marked for a vote against legalizing beer. Everything possible is being done to inform the voters and to rally them to the polls.

A public statement of a wet leader to the effect that the wets are being aided financially by eastern liquor interests is being used by the dries to influence the voters to repel this brewery invasion, and the appeal is having its effect.

Dry are also appealing to the patriotism of voters to defeat the beer amendment because it seeks to nullify a federal law, and dries assert Ohio should not disgrace herself by being pointed to as a nullification state.

Advocates of the beer amendment, however, have so far failed to convince the voters that the approval of their proposal would not have these results:

It would legalize the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer in the state.

It would open the way for the return of the beer saloons.

It would legalize the possession of liquor in the home and would make the home a saloon.

It would break down the enforcement law of the state and would render void the Crabbe enforcement act, as that act says one-half of one per cent of alcohol is intoxicating.

It would place Ohio in opposition to the federal government.

It would multiply the difficulties of dry law enforcement.

It would menace the Volstead law and the eighteenth amendment.

That the brewers' proposal is a nullification scheme is so apparent that it is stirring the Civil War veterans who fought 60 years ago against nullification. Norris Post, G. A. R., Postoria, recently adopted the following:

"Norris Post No. 27, department of Ohio, G. A. R., goes on record unanimously to endorse and uphold the Volstead and Crabbe laws and the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution. We offered our lives for the old flag and we can not stand to see it dishonored and disgraced."

Ohio wets are also active. They have their workers busy over the state, and are conducting an effective publicity campaign, urging support of their amendment in order to defend the "constitutional rights" of individuals.

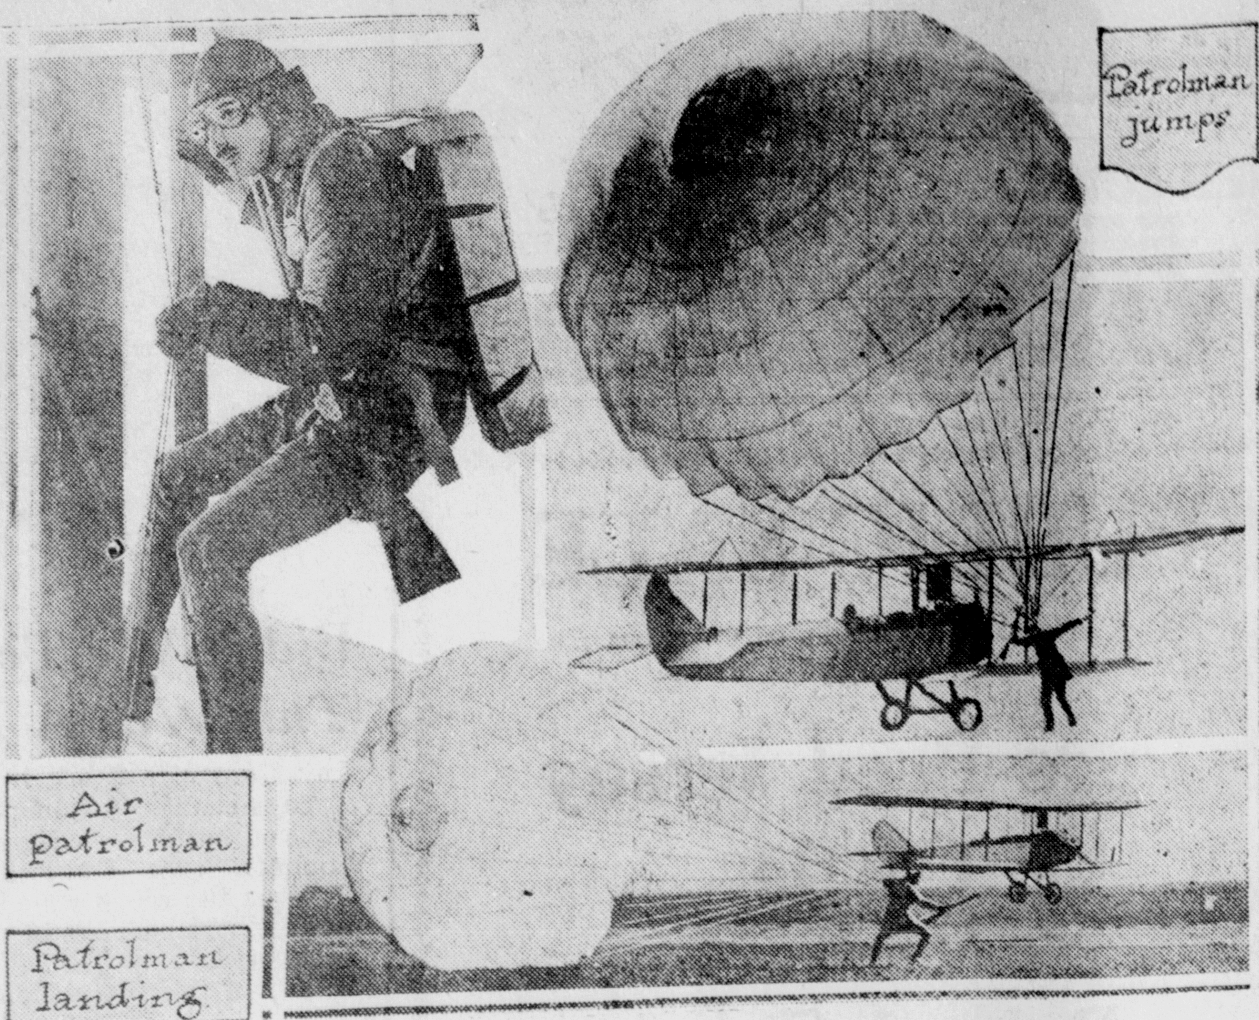

Wet advocates admit their purpose in urging the adoption of the beer amendment is to bring back to Ohio and legalize beer of the alcoholic content as was sold in saloons prior to prohibition. Another purpose is, through a victory in Ohio, to influence congress to modify the federal dry law and legalize beer throughout the country.

So the Ohio campaign is national in scope and is being watched with great interest by wets and dries from ocean to ocean.

This beer and anti-beer fight is overshadowing the contest between the two political parties. Ohio voters are discussing the beer amendment rather than the tariff, foreign relations, or other questions which politicians are trying to drag into the campaign.

Both wets and dries will make a big effort to get their voters to the polls, the dries especially urging the women to use the ballot against their old enemy, John Barleycorn. That they will do so there is little doubt.

TAKES POISON IN THEATER

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—Subject to epileptic fits and fearing that his fiancée would break their engagement because of the affliction from which he suffered, Gordon Wylis, 25, swallowed poison in a downtown motion picture theater last night and is in a critical condition at the hospital as a result. The girl, Miss Hazel Lovett and her brother were with him at the time and Miss Lovett declared that she would marry him as planned on Saturday if he recovered.

MAN CONFESSES TO HAVING FORTY WIVES ARRESTED IN DAYTON ON OTHER CHARGE

A string of 40 wives extending from 1890 until the present, represents the matrimonial ventures of William Lawrence Jones, 56, colored, arrested by Dayton police Thursday, in whom the officers believe they have captured the biggest bigamist in the country.

Jones was arrested for issuing a fraudulent check and soon afterward confessed that the names and addresses of 40 women contained in a book he carried, were all former wives who he had married in wholesale lots, changing, discarding and taking on new spouses with every change of weather.

His story as told Dayton police is a romantic one. Jones was born in Oxford, Pa., in 1866 and educated for the ministry. He preached until 1890 when he met and married Mary Cain, of London. Eight more wives he met and married when he met Laura Lot, Chillicothe, in 1903, who possessed a small fortune. It was then he decided to "go straight" and lived with Laura until 1917 when he married Oprea Looney, Paris, Tenn. From then on his adventures on the sea of matrimony followed close upon one another until last year he went through ten marriage ceremonies and in the first ten months of this year, he has married 14 times. All of his wives are living, so far as he knows and none have been divorced.

Jones was married nine times in Chicago at various times and used the same name each time. He has four wives in Illinois, four in Pennsylvania, four in New York six each in Ohio and Michigan, two each in Indiana and Tennessee and one each in Missouri, Kansas and Wisconsin.

Each of his wives were between the ages of 24 and 33 when he married them and were all pretty, Jones boasted. The book containing the director of his wives also contained newspaper clippings of his marriages and the "splurges" he made at each time. He admitted passing many fraudulent checks to pay for entertaining his various wives, Jones said he was only arrested once and served 22 months in Pennsylvania Western penitentiary for bigamy.

His list of wives, their addresses and the date when he married them follows: Mary Cain, London, 1890; Cora Richey, Hogan, Mich., 1891; Sulta Winburn, Battle Creek, Mich., 1894; Delia Cortley, Newark, 1895; Lovina Bindley, Baltimore, Ind., 1897; Edith Wozna, Bloomington, Ill., 1900; Lizzie Hogue, Memphis, Tenn., 1901; Leona Stratton, Mason City, Ill., 1902; Laura Lot, Chillicothe, Ohio, 1903; Oprea Looney, Paris, Tenn., 1917; Florence Carter, Monsier, Pa., 1918; Garnett Turner, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1918; Gertrude Davis, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1918; Alta Rose, Steubenville, 1918; Blanche Van Hook, Columbus, O., 1920; Mamey Morton, Chicago, Ill., 1921; Elizabeth Morton, Chicago, Ill., 1921; Daisy Collins, Chicago, 1921; Tillie Hector, Chicago, 1921; Edith

AGRICULTURE

Senator Capper has been making speeches to the Kansas farmers during October. In these he has sought to clarify the purpose of the farm bloc in Congress and to emphasize the issues of paramount importance to agriculture.

"The only difference between the agricultural bloc and the Wall Street bloc and other big interest blocs," says the Senator with his customary vigor, "is that the latter blocs always work under cover while the agricultural bloc operates in the open. There is this difference between the farm blocs and all other blocs which for years have existed: The farm bloc is not out to block anything that is for this country's good. We are out to get a square deal for agriculture."

The farm bloc is fighting for an immediate and substantial reduction in the freight rates on agricultural products. It is also gunning in behalf of a one-two-and-three year credit system for farmers, based on their product as collateral, and will push this legislation at the next session of Congress. The farmers must have better prices than he is now receiving or he will soon out of business, says Capper, and he cannot get better prices until he has a credit system that will enable him to market his products in an orderly fashion. The farm bloc is in close touch with farming interests and has its fingers on a vital spot.

Secretary Wallace recently made a review of the measures taken by the present administration to relieve the farmer. They include the tariff, War Finance corporation act, increased capitalization of the Farm Land banks, agricultural representation on Federal Reserve board, packers' and stockyards' act, and grain futures act, not omitting protection for farmers' cooperative.

Several of these measures are providing helpful, but none go to the root of the farmer's trouble which is the lack of proportion between supply and demand. A rural credit system with the aid of farm organizations will do more to put the farmer in control of his market than a sheaf of ordinary laws. Part of the farmer's trouble is beyond the reach of legislation. Congress cannot legislate peace and stability for Europe.

Various writers have deplored the tendency of many farmers, perhaps a majority—to "mine" their land instead of cultivate it, thus exhausting its riches and leaving it a poor inheritance for future generations. The wide use of fertilizer and the scientific rotation of crops counteract the depletion of soil fertility in some degree, but the need for wider recognition that soil must be rejuvenated is a necessity. A great many farmers are neglecting their soil, and getting all they can out of it at the least possible expense, simply because the prices they receive for grain are not sufficient to pay taxes, wages and living expenses.

STOCKS

Flare-ups are inevitably succeeded by reactions however strong, the market's foundation. Commission houses believe that prices are due for a constant advance between now and midwinter, owing to increased industrial activity and profits. Some stocks will do no more than hold their ground, others may lose. Still other stocks which have been neglected,

Cuticura Soap
IS IDEAL
For the Hands

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, etc. everywhere. For sample address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X, Malden, Mass.

will advance. Stock dividends are an unsubstantial basis for a sharp rise, but other factors justify the upward trend. The Near East difficulty has been ironed out for the time.

Grain

The advance in grain prices is highly gratifying, not only to the farmers, but to business men and thinking persons everywhere, who see that the farmer's prosperity is inextricably bound up with that of the country at large. The trade has apparently come to realize that grain prices declined too far and that the long side is safer and more profitable than the short side. Grains could not remain low indefinitely with wages and prices in general high. Traffic congestion has aided prices and frightened exporters and foreigners into making purchases which they might otherwise have delayed.

Livestock

The cattle market is suffering from car shortage and Northwestern growers are shipping under handicaps. Sale of meats at home and abroad is encouraging and packers' reports are cheerful. Prime cattle went to new high levels for the year, while warmed-up stuff was a drag on the market. The country is buying cattle as fast as it can get them. Plenty of money is available. The hog market is in a healthy condition and adapting itself to the season.

Wool

Wool is in demand throughout the world and the markets all show a tendency to strengthen. Holders are not inclined to shade prices. Fine wools are scarce. The stock of medium and low grade wool is ample for the time. Manufacturers have been showing quite a little interest in medium wools. This market has been consistently firm ever since the emergency tariff went into effect and promises to remain strong.

Cotton

The New England mills are very active and all the mills are buying cotton in fair quantities. Prices on cotton goods are high enough to warrant 22c cotton. Liverpool and Manchester advances helped the market as did temporary settlement of the Turkish trouble. American agriculture is profiting by the strength in cotton, just as it will profit by the appreciation in grains.

Metals

The iron and steel industry complains of car shortage, but is enjoying prosperity notwithstanding. The iron industry has recovered much ground lost during the strikes. Buyers are cautious in their orders, hoping for lower prices. The coke situation is easing. Fabricated steel orders are declining due to the season and

WAITED TILL THE COWS CAME HOME

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gasses in the stomach and colic attacks. The specialist, our family doctor sent me to Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

The strikingly beautiful outlines of the Copper-Clad Range stops every woman. As she looks and admires, she finds that it is true beauty—the beauty of simple elegance and perfect proportions—of fine finish—the thoroughbred of the Range World.

Look for hinges on the above—two only on the oven door and they are long and smooth. There are six other doors yet not a hinge in sight: not a catch, nor hook nor latch. Built like fine automobiles, the hinges are all inside.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

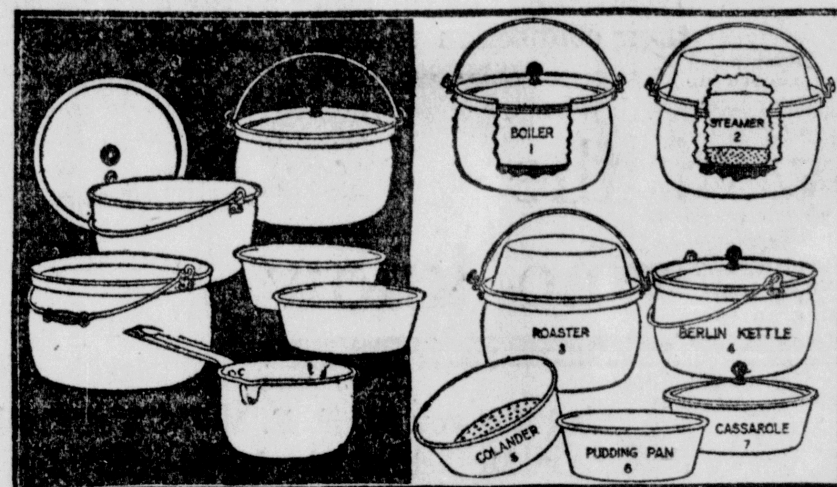

With White Enamel Trimmings

"Copper-Clad" means pure Sheet Copper is placed BETWEEN the sweaty asbestos and range body. To place it elsewhere would be like climbing on top of a roof to get out of the wet.

SET OF ELEGANT

This ALUMINUM WARE Free

IF YOU BUY A COPPER-CLAD RANGE NEXT WEEK

"Free" means that this ware does not cost Copper-Clad buyers a single penny. It is a reward for buying while the "Copper-Clad Crank" is here and is offered by him to justify you in attending this sale.

This ware is very substantial and just the kind that you would select if buying for your own use. The 7-in-1 convertible cooker takes the place of seven different vessels, as shown by figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. You can use this utensil in some form every day.

Free to every Copper-Clad buyer during this sale.
Come—See the Asbestos Sweat.

COPPER-CLAD WEEK Next Week, Oct. 23-28

No matter whether you want a range now or next year or any other time, it will pay you to come and see the Copper-Clad Crank make the Asbestos Sweat.

He takes any piece of Asbestos, puts it between two iron plates—heats it—and shows you the sweat. You can roll it up in drops with your finger.

Every good range must be lined with asbestos to hold the heat around the oven and keep down fuel cost. Every time the range cools off, the asbestos takes moisture out of the fresh air circulating through the range like a blotter takes up water. When you fire up, this moisture is driven by the heat to the outside against the cold range body and starts Sweat-Rust on the inside where you can't get at it even though you know it rusts. Sweat-Rust ruins thousands and thousands of other-wise good ranges every year. When the range body is gone, the range is done for.

The Copper-Clad Idea Is "Pure Sheet

Copper Between the Asbestos and Range Body"

Copper never rusts. It may tarnish but it will last centuries. There are Copper Domes that have been defying the elements for hundreds of years. So, when we say a "Copper-Clad can't rust out," we mean that the copper lining overcomes all internal rust. An oiled rag will keep the outside free of rust—and there are no fussy ornaments full of rivets and bolts to skin your hands. The Copper-Clad wipes clean like a dish.

If these things are so—you should know it. Not by hearsay—but by the evidence of your own eyes. Remember, this "Copper-Clad Crank" is here to tell—to show—to explain. He delights in it. You won't "bother" him by asking questions. He has oodles of time to answer and he is here to "Show You."

DARK HORSE IS PROBABLE NEXT LEGION CHIEF

Dozen or More Candidates Are in Field But None Sure.

WILL BE MILITANT? Convention Gets Down to Selection of New Commander.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas, was today elected national commander of the American Legion.

Owsley received 574 votes; William E. Deegan of New York, 251; Col. "Joe" Thompson of Pennsylvania 205 and John A. McCormick of Colorado, 12.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—Selection of a new national commander gripped the attention of the American Legion annual convention here today while the so-called "conservative" element continued to view with chagrin the wrecking of their attempts to "boss" the "rough boys" and "soft pedal" criticisms of the administration's soldier bonus and veterans hospitalization policies.

It was believed that whoever is chosen successor to Hanford MacNider, retiring national commander, will be as militant and outspoken as he is in his attitude toward the bonus, rehabilitation and other big problems, confronting the administration and the legion alike.

The last day of the convention found a dozen or more prospective candidates in the field. All night conferences and "trading" failed to develop sufficient strength for any one to claim enough votes to win on the first ballot. There were indications that the balloting might be long and uncertain with the possibility of a "dark horse" coming under the wire at the finish.

As the convention reassembled the two candidates apparently having the best chances of winning the national commandership were George L. Berry, of Tennessee, president of the national printing pressmen's union, and high in the councils of the American Federation of Labor, and Alvin M. Owsley, Texas, chairman of the legion's Americanization committee.

Wm. E. Deegan of New York, was believed to have been eliminated as a candidate although his boom was still much in evidence.

Col. J. H. Thompson and Wm. F. Healy, both of Pennsylvania, were among the others willing to become national commander if the lightning should strike them.

James Proffes, 22, is in McClellan Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the right hip, sustained when he accidentally shot himself while in the Princess Confectionary, Main and Detroit Streets, at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Proffes was taken to the offices of Drs. W. H. and R. Kent inley, where Dr. Finley Sr., examined the wound.

FEDERAL JURY INDICTS 26 IN BOND THEFT CASE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—A Federal Grand Jury sitting here today returned indictments against 26 persons charging with being implicated in the nation wide disposal of stolen bonds, chief of which are said to be the bonds lost in a $2,500,000 mail robbery at New York, Oct. 24, 1921, and a $1,500,000 theft at Chicago on January 18, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of Minneapolis, were the first arrested under the indictments. McCormick is former vice president and treasurer of Stevens and Company, bankrupt bond and investment house here and is now awaiting trial in the state district court on grand larceny charges in connection with a bad deal of the firm.

Those named in the indictments include attorneys, bankers, bond salesmen and brokers. The indictments are the result of months of investigation by federal officials in which operatives have combed Chicago, New York and other cities.

More than $500,000 of the bonds stolen in spectacular raids in eastern banking centers, have been circulated in Minneapolis authorities say may of them being purchased by innocent persons and deposited as collateral in financial transactions.

RUMOR DECLARES KAISER MARRIED

London, Oct. 20.—A rumor that the former German kaiser has been married to Princess Hermine of Reuss was circulated today by a Doorn, Holland, newspaperman who sent queries to newspapers in England, and on the continent saying: "Kaiser married, civil ceremony, today."

The original date of the marriage was November 5.

THOMPSON THINKS TAXPAYERS CAN BE SAVED BIG AMOUNT

Half Million Yearly Sum Suggested By Candidate.

Celina, Ohio, Oct. 20.—"I can, and will, as governor of Ohio, save the taxpayers a half million dollars annually in conducting the state's public affairs by applying the same methods of efficiency and management to the state's business as I applied in successful and practical management of private business," declared Col. Carmel Thompson, Republican candidate for governor here today in an address.

"President Harding during 18 months of administration has salvaged from the financial and political wreck of national affairs the foundation for normal prosperity among the farming interests, the industrial and commercial lines and safeguarded these together with the jobs and wages of American workers by an adequate Republican protective tariff," Thompson continued. "He has reduced taxes, cut the cost of government and put more business in government."

"The result is apparent in the rising wave of prosperity and efficient functioning of our national government."

"Through the power of the vetoing as governor single items in an appropriation measure I will be able to prevent loose spending of public money. Taxes in Ohio can be reduced if business methods are applied to government. I will do just that."

CITY FIREMAN ARRESTED

Dayton, O., Oct. 20.—Francis Garvey, a city fireman, is held in jail here today charged with being a bandit. He was arrested at 4 o'clock this morning while in bed, for "sticking up" William McCullough at his road house on the Xenia pike at 11 o'clock last night. He and his pal who escaped got $27.32, when McCullough opened the cash register. A receipt dropped on the floor of the road house led to Garvey's detection.

WOMEN TO DECIDE FATE OF WOMAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—That women will play an important part in determining the fate of Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer murderer," was evident today when she went to trial in Superior Judge Houser's court before a morbid crowd that packed the courtroom to the door, charged with having beaten to death pretty Mrs. Alberta Meadows, July 12 last in Loney Montecito drive.

The panel from which the jury will be selected contains about the same number of women as men.

FORCED TO RETURN FOR FEAR OF LIFE

Mrs. Inman Johnson

Miss Louise Baye, coloratura soprano, who in private life is Mrs. Inman Johnson, of Louisville, Ky., has returned from a year's study abroad, her visit ending abruptly when a love-sick basso pursued her all over Italy, threatening to kill her because she would not divorce her husband to marry him.

RESOURCES OF OHIO BANKS GREATEST IN STATE HISTORY

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Declaration that the resources and deposits of Ohio banks under state supervision are the greatest in the history of the state was made here today by State Supt. of Banks Scott. Supt. Scott said that resources of these banks now total $1,548,396,710, exceeding by nearly $30,000,000 the previous high mark, made Dec. 31, 1920, when resources totalled, $1,518,679,471.

Deposits of these banks aggregate $1,327,446,891, an advance of more than $58,000,000 over the previous high peak, also made on Dec. 31, 1920, when deposits reached $1,269,000,000 Supt. Scott announced.

"These unprecedented gains, recording the most remarkable increases ever made in the history of the state by banks subject to its supervision, are shown by a statement prepared from reports made by these banks under the call for Sept. 15, last," said Supt. Scott.

This splendid showing signifies that basic economic and industrial conditions are vastly improved, that the business outlook is decidedly encouraging and that the era of prosperity which the department of banks, in a statement issued last spring, declared had set in, is now here in force, with every promise of continuing for a long period.

EIGHT MINERS INSTANTLY KILLED

McCurran, Okla., Oct. 20.—Eight miners were instantly killed here today in an explosion at the Blue Ridge mine, four others were perhaps fatally injured and four seriously.

All of the men were miners. No officials of the mine were caught in the explosion. All of them were married.

BORROWED BABIES AND CLAIMED THEM AS OWN IS REPORT

Mother of "Mystery Twins" Had Fondness for Children Very Young

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 20.—Significant revelations that are bound to have a tremendous bearing on the trial of Hazel McNally, mother of Hammond's "mystery twins" were unearthed today.

The most striking of these disclosures are as follows:

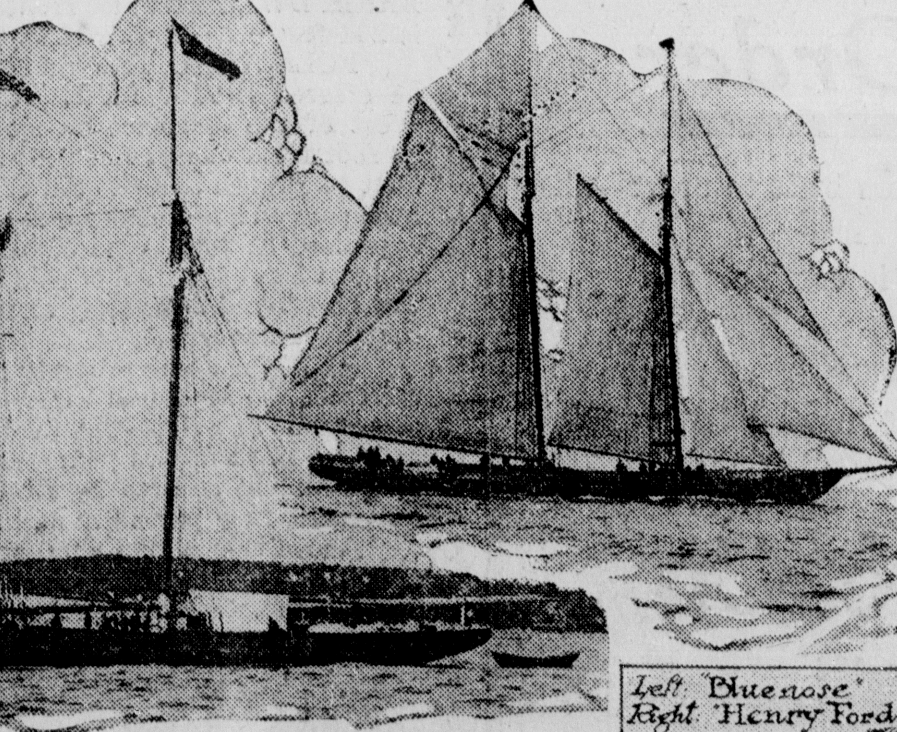

1.—At the age of 16 years Mrs. McNally who was then Hazel Mills, borrowed numerous babies in the vicinity of the tenement house in which she lived at 2829 Calumet avenue and claimed the borrowed babies as her own.

2.—Five different witnesses are willing to testify that at this time she was frequently seen in the narrow hallways of the building sewing baby clothes, which she gave to the borrowed babies.

3.—That on one occasion when a baby was not to be had she picked up a puppy dog and dressed it in baby clothes, borrowed a baby buggy and wheeled it around the neighborhood.

4.—That she frequented the baby ward of the Hahnemann Hospital for the purpose of fondling the children until she became a nuisance and the authorities forbade her to come again. She circumvented the ruling by appearing at the hospital dressed in a nurse's uniform, representing herself to be a visiting nurse from Mercy Hospital.

IS NEW PREMIER OF GREAT BRITAIN

Andrew Bonar Law

Andrew Bonar Law, former British Cabinet member and Government leader in the House of Commons has accepted the premiership of Great Britain succeeding Lloyd George who resigned Thursday.

Andrew Bonar Law has long been prominent in British politics. He was the Government leader in the House of Commons and represented the British Government at the Peace Conference in Paris in 1919. He was born in Brunswick, Canada, in 1858 and received his education there and in Glasgow High School.

London, Oct. 20.—Andrew Bonar Law who is attempting to form a new British cabinet told International News Service that he will ask for immediate dissolution of parliament if he is elected leader of the unionist party Monday. He said that there had been a rearrangement of plans and that he would not see King George before Monday.

SEEK WRECKERS OF TRAIN; TWO DEAD, 8 HURT

Fast Wabash Flyer Ditched—Spikes Are Out of Track.

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 20.—Charles Schmugge, an engineer was killed and seven persons seriously injured when a fast Wabash flyer was ditched near here early today.

An investigation of peculiar aspects of the wreck was begun at once.

It was learned that H. T. Smith, baggage master of Toledo, had died of injuries and burns received in the wreck.

Investigation revealed that spikes and bolts had been taken out and laid at the side of the track before the crash took place.

Fireman John Hinton, who was only slightly injured, said he saw the track with a section of the rail missing, but that it was too late to stop the train.

A posse which included the county sheriff and a number of railroad detectives are combing the countryside in an effort to find the train wreckers.

GAIN REPORTED IN DRUG HABIT IN U. S.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Growth of the narcotic drug habit and of bootleg liquor drinking was indicated today by the prohibition unit of the treasury in reports from all parts of the country.

Arrests this year of 42,000 Volstead law offenders is an increase of 10,000 over the year 1921. Aggregate fines imposed upon violators amounted to $3,000,000.

A sixty five per cent increase in the number of narcotic law violators also was announced. The number of convictions obtained, however, showed a 100 per cent increase over last year, officials said.

BRITISH CRISIS IS WATCHED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

American Government Will Witness Policy Change With Anxiety.

FEAR NEW PROGRAM

Lloyd George is Last Big Four at Paris to Fall.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The British political crisis almost overshadowed the congressional elections in point of general interest in Washington today.

Despite the obvious disinclination of administration officials to comment upon the internal policies of a friendly power, it was apparent today that the American government will follow the formation of a new British government with intense interest, not unmixed with some anxiety.

While not vitally affected by the upheaval in British politics, the American government nevertheless is indirectly affected in a score of matters requiring cooperation and understanding between London and Washington. For six years the United States has had to deal with a man and a set of policies that invariably sought closer Anglo-American relations. Whether a new premier and a Tory cabinet, with its Tory traditions of imperialism, is to continue those policies was a matter of intense interest today to administration officials.

Nowhere in Washington was there any greater interest in the downfall of Lloyd George than at 2340 S. street, where Woodrow Wilson lives in lonely solitude and views the world in retrospect.

Mr. Wilson is said to have been considerably surprised by the resignation of his old colleague of Versailles. When the news was brought to him, however, he is said to have merely smiled and remarked:

"Well, well, he did last a long while, didn't he?"

The little Welsh premier was the last of the famous big four at Paris, to fall before the political disapproval of his people, Orlando, Clemenceau, Wilson and now Lloyd George.

As viewed by administration officials the most important aspect of the change in governments in London is the effect it will have on Franco-British relations. The French, under Poincare, and the British under Lloyd George have steadily been drifting apart; so much so, in fact, that one prominent American official said today:

"The Franco-British entente no longer exists in fact."

First on Germany, then on Russia, and finally on Turkey, the breach between London and Paris has widened steadily.

American officials apparently were somewhat divided today as to the course the new British Premier, A. Bonar Law, can be expected to take toward France and continental Europe in general. Some observers ascribed the little Welshman's downfall to the fact that he was constantly quarreling with France, and consequently his successor could be expected to follow a more conciliatory policy. Others, however, recalled that Bonar Law publicly advocated the formal breaking of the entente with France no longer than three weeks ago.

The British embassy here probably will be unaffected by the political shake up. Sir Auckland Geddes, the ambassador, is considered in England to have made an enviable record in Washington and the consensus in diplomatic and official quarters today was that he would continue to represent Great Britain. No change is looked for either in Great Britain's announced policy of paying no war reparations, or her desire to use some $15,000,000,000 to the United States. The funding negotiations may be slightly delayed by the political turn over but it is frankly anticipated that the tory government will be even more zealous than was the coalition government for an early adjustment of the debt situation.

George Harvey, American ambassador at St. James, has cabled a report on the political situation to the state department for the guidance of President, Harding and Secretary of State Hughes.

RESTRICTIONS TAKEN OFF FREIGHT TRAFFIC

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Effective today all restrictions on freight traffic originating on its own lines, with the exception of the northern grand division which embraces Buffalo, the Allegheny and the Navajo divisions were entirely removed. It was announced today by the Pennsylvania system.

"This means" the announcement said, "that restrictions upon the acceptance of freight which originated at points located on the Pennsylvania lines, out of Altoona, Renova and Buffalo, destined to points east there of are removed entirely."

FINES ARE ARRESTED.

Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—Fine aggregating more than $28,000 have been assessed in the last two days by Judge A. M. J. Cochran in United States Court, now in session at Covington, Ky. The penalties were distributed among 91 persons.

BIBLICAL PLAY THURSDAY MARKED BY GOOD ACTING

A good sized audience of Xenia play patrons, witness an offering quite out of the ordinary with the general characters of plays presented in the city, with the staging of "A Dream of Queen Esther" presented at the City Hall Theater, Thursday night by the Aldora Chapter, No. 262, Order of the Eastern Star.

The good selection of parts for the play, the vivid colorings, and staging, and the strict following of the story of Esther as given in the Bible, went to make up the success of the play. Of the cast of forty-four characters, several parts were outstanding in the dramatic offering, each character lending valuable talent to the plot.

Four Dayton people, aided the local talent, C. E. Greenwood being cast as Mordecai, the captive Jew, Miss Miriam Hoeber, as Esther, while Mrs. Susan H. Wiest assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Miller, of Dayton, directed the play and were in charge of every detail and the stage setting.

The plot of the play of Biblical exactness, was laid in three acts, several beautiful tableaux being an added feature of the program. The last of the play included a number of children who handled their parts well.

Mrs. Edward Norris, was general chairman of the play, while Mrs. J. C. Denham was stage manager. Music was furnished by the Xenia orchestra while the piano number during the play were rendered by Miss Doris Meahl.

The members of the Aldora Chapter hope to have an even larger audience with the second presentation of the play, Friday night. Tickets are still on sale at the Sohn Drug Store, children to be admitted for twenty-five cents.

Styles BY LENORE

FROM PARIS

When you take navy blue cloth—it may be serge, rep or kasha—and cut it on such severe lines as the sketch of the design illustrated, and then soften the effect with a little embroidery, you may be very sure of an autumn frock that will meet with immediate recognition for its distinction.

A loose apron panel in the manner of many of the Worth models this season, is a chic feature, and just above the hips the embroidery conceals useful little pockets. And when a frock is built on such severely simple lines, what more appropriate and smart than tightly fitted sleeves that tie gracefully at the wrist with embroidered bands?

DESCRIPTION OF GOWNS AT ... NEW YORK WEDDING GIVEN ...

Xenians will be interested in the account of the wedding of Miss Hoen Augustus Meeks, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Connable, of New York, and a niece of Mr. Frank Connable, well known here, at Wakefield Worcester, which is given in the magazine "Women's Wear" received by all modistes, appearing in the October issue.

The account gives particular importance to the gowns worn by the bride and her attendants, as the following:

"The bride's gown was of ivory satin, showing a draped skirt trimmed with point lace insertions, lace sleeves were elbow length and a court train of ivory net was finished at the hem with a deep point of satin set on with point lace.

The veil of tulle fell from the back of the head where it was gathered into a wreath of orange blossoms.

"The maid of honor wore a deep salmon colored chiffon velvet draped model with long skirt, one side train and silver girdle, round neck and no sleeves. Her hat was of black velvet with a wide brim trimmed with a cluster of shaded salmon ostrich feathers at one side.

"The other attendants wore a lighter shade of salmon colored chiffon trimmed with wide bands of silver lace from shoulders to hem and girdles of silver ribbon. Their hats were shaded salmon colored velvet with a silver lace brim. All the attendants wore silver slippers and carried bouquets of salmon colored dahlias and field flowers tied with silver ribbons.

Mrs. Connable the bride's grandmother wore pale gray chiffon velvet with plain skirt and court train, a hat of gray velvet and silver lace, and a corsage of orchids. Among the smart frocks were many of black and colored velvet, both plain and brocade and cashmere and other wool materials, trimmed with velvet and fur.

"Brown, blue and sumac were the leading colors, and the silhouettes, without exception long and slender. Several dresses were almost sleeveless and the round neck unusually low.

"Hats were, generally speaking, small, more colored than black particularly in blue, sumac and henna. As the afternoon was cool, many smart wraps were in vogue, velvet and fur over the light dresses of crepe, velvet and chiffon.

"There were more brown and blue velvet dresses at the reception and many in the light shades of tan in chiffon and in brocade velvet, with the accessories matching. Fur and embroidery were the trimmings and much ermine with black."

CHURCH SOCIETY TO GIVE HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Young Peoples Society of Christ Episcopal Church will hold a Halloween party at the Parish House, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

A varied program has been arranged by the entertainment committee. Decorations will be in keeping with the occasion. Part of the evening will be devoted to the sale of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, etc., the proceeds of which will go towards securing a motion picture projector.

Robert Ayers, son of Mrs. Eunice Ayers, Springfield Pike, who has been a patient at Dr. Satter's Hospital, Cincinnati, for the past week, is now much better and it is thought will be able to return home Saturday. Mrs. Ayers returned home Thursday after being with her son at the hospital.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT EVENING PARTY

Fifty invited guests were entertained at a delightful evening party at the home of Miss Mary Kelble, on South West street, Thursday evening were given a surprise, in the nature of the announcement of the engagement of Mr. John Kelble, and Miss Estella Welch, of Dayton.

The guests of the evening were entertained during the time with progressive euchre, a delicious two course luncheon following. During the luncheon, a card contained in an

THIRTEEN CHURCHES OF XENIA PRESBYTERIAL REPRESENTED AT FORTY FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION AT THE SECOND U. P. CHURCH

A large and appreciative assembly of women delegates from the thirteen churches of the Xenia Presbyterian attended the forty-fourth annual convention held at the Second United Presbyterian Church, Thursday.

Dr. Thomas Lambe, who is opening up a new mission field in Abyssinia or Ethiopia of old, described in his most interesting way that country, its products, people, and the government of the land. Because of his medical work, and his being an American, Dr. Lambe had gained an entrance into the very heart of this field, heretofore closed against missionary agencies.

Conditions underneath the establishment of a strong and well equipped mission under the supervision of this consecrated man were eloquently described by the speaker.

Miss Hallie Q. Brown, of Wilberforce University, gave a splendid address on "The Trend of the Races," dealing with the progress of the colored race toward Christian Civilization, the development of the Negro being fully discussed.

A questionnaire contest pertaining to the missionary activities of the United Presbyterian Church, proved to be an interesting as well as instructive feature of the program when fifty-six of the women responded, to the questions propounded by Mrs. L. L. Gray.

Reports from the various secretaries of the district indicated a good year, the report of the thank offering secretary along showing that $2,200 has been received during the past year. A clever pageant "Thanksgiving Ann" was ably presented by the two young women of the Neil Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Columbus.

Mrs. J. P. White, who for the past was elected president for the coming year, of the organization, succeeding Mrs. P. White, who for the past two years has served the Presbyterian.

Other officers elected to serve on the district organization were: first vice president, Mrs. McClure, second vice president, Mrs. S. R. Jamieson; recording sec'y; Miss Dorothy Collins; corresponding secretary; Mrs. Vernon McCall; treasurer, Miss Sarah J. Reid, thank offering, secretary, Mrs. F. P. Hastings, young women's secretary, Mrs. M. W. Van Eaton, junior secretary, Miss Myrtle Lackey; temperance secretary; Mrs. Lucy Barber, literature secretary, Ms. J. W. Ballentyne, associate secretary, Mrs. J. E. Kyle.

One of the most important features of the day's program was the sectional conference, the conference of the junior department, being led by Miss Myrtle Lackey, of Jamestown, while the Young women's dept. was led by Mrs. Herman Eavey, and the Women's Missionary Society by Mrs. A. A. Thompson, of Columbus.

A clever part of the program was staged by sixteen women of the Second United Presbyterian Church, who presented a parody on "The Old Oak Bucket," boosting the Woman's Missionary Magazine, their dresses and hats being made of the missionary Magazine.

The evening thank offering service was in charge of Mrs. D. R. Hoague, $2,116.22, being the amount of the year's thank offering pledged. The women of the Second United Presbyterian Church served free meals to the two hundred out of town delegates at the convention.

The convention adjourned in the evening to meet next year in Clifton. Workers and officers of the organization are giving much credit to the women of the Second United Presbyterian Church, for their hospitality and assistance with the program, which aided in making the day a success.

The wedding of Miss Welsh and Mr. Kelble will be an event of November 14. Miss Welsh formerly resided in this city, and now lives in Dayton. She is the daughter of Mr. John Welsh, former Xenian, now located in Mexico. Mr. Kelble is employed in Dayton, and the couple will reside in that city following their marriage.

Mrs. Edwin Snell of Hill Street, was removed to the McClellan hospital, Wednesday, to undergo a course of treatment.

New Hydro-Glider.
A new "hydro-glider," just completed on the west coast, is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is said to provide all the thrill and speed of a hydroplane gliding over the surface of the ocean. In fact it amounts practically to a flying boat without wings, and is driven over the surface of the water by an air-propelled motor at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated

MACHINES CRASH; NO ONE INJURED

Three machines were damaged but no one was injured when an Oldsmobile driven by a man named Webster colored, struck the Ford coupe owned and driven by John Haren, South Detroit street, at Detroit and Second streets at 11:30 Friday morning and then collided with the third machine a Dodge, parked in front of the Fetz Bros' grocery.

Haren was driving east on Second street and had almost passed the side for south bound traffic when his car was struck head on by the Olds. The impact turned the Ford around and Webster's car then ran into the Dodge parked in front of the grocery. The Ford was the most seriously damaged. The body was bent in, the fenders on one side bent, and both tires on that side blown out. The front of the Webster car was dented and the Dodge slightly damaged.

VOTE FOR BEST MAN SAYS SPEAKER AT ROTARY MEETING

Merritt Hitchcock, of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club, addressed the members of the Xenia Rotary Club, following the regular club luncheon, at the Elks' Club Friday. Non-partisan politics was the subject of Mr. Hitchcock's address, the speaker urging that every voter should cast his vote for the best man and not the party.

J. L. Alman, member of the local Rotary Club, former superintendent of the Hercules Powder Plant at Goes Station, who is leaving soon for his new position at Columbus, Kansas, was given a farewell by his fellow Rotarians, Dr. B. R. McClellan speaking on behalf of the club, wishing Mr. Alman success in his new work.

Members of the club presented Mr. Alman with a Rotary pin as a farewell gift. The first issue of the Rotary Club Bulletin, which the members of the organization are planning to put out each week, was presented to the members at the meeting Friday. The paper, a clever take-off on the members, with jokes at their expense caused much commend in the club circle.

EUROPE MUST PAY WAR DEBTS TO U. S., HOOVER DECLARES.

Secretary Hoover, a member of the Allied Debt Commission, in an address at Toledo, Monday, laid down what was regarded as the policy of the Harding Administration on the $11,500,000,000 owed to America by European nations.

All hope of debt cancellation was blasted by Mr. Hoover and arguments for further postponement of interest payments fell under the weight of his logic. The debts, he said, were owing, not to the Government but to the American taxpayers and must be paid. With peace in Europe, he said, payment in full would not be difficult. Repudiation of the debts, he declared would "undermine the whole fabric of international good faith."

"America earnestly wishes to be helpful to Europe," said Mr. Hoover, "but economic matters require a degree of realism that will do justice to the American people as well as be helpful to peoples abroad."

The loans were made at the urgent request of the individual borrowing nations under their solemn assurances of re-payment, and have no relation to other nations or other debts, Mr. Hoover emphasized. He also stressed the fact that American taxpayers did not participate in reparations and acquired no territory or other benefits, as did the European debtor nations.

"There is no question as to the moral or contractual obligation," he said. "The repudiation of these loans would undermine the whole fabric of international good faith. I do not believe any public official either of the United States or any other country could or should approve their cancellation. Certainly I do not."

"If there be some of these countries who should be relieved of the annual payments for a few years or in order to promote economic stability," Mr. Hoover declared, "then there needs be a demonstration of the facts in respect to each individual country that would be convincing to the American taxpayer."

REAPING WITHOUT SOWING.

Pomeroy neighbors of an elderly couple named Krause have lost over $300,000, the Krauses "borrowed" on promise of investment at high profits for the lenders.

Thus more bubbles burst. Was it only last year that Ponzi was exposed?

There is an inherent dishonesty in the gambling theory, seldom understood by beginners in this losing game. They have a vague idea that the money to be won just grew of itself, and it's only a matter of luck who gets it.

But somebody earned the money, and the man who "just picks it up" is cheating persons who sweated for it in the first instance. The path back to the earner may be indirect, but it always exists. Perhaps if the young person, hesitating on the brink of risking savings on a "sure thing" or an "inside tip" will stop to ask whether, even if he wins, he quite wishes to get someone else's savings in this manner, it will give the process a different aspect.

The gambling principle, reduced to its primary terms, is thievery, often disguised in subtle and almost unrecognizable ways, it is true, but thievery none the less.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Those to whom no heavy responsibilities are committed are, as a rule, those who are afraid of them or unequal to them.

Many a man is willing to accept a smaller wage and an humbler station so that he may enjoy the privilege of knocking a boss or passing the buck to the man higher up.

As long as he is a subordinate he can tell the world how much better he would do things if he were in supreme command. "If I only had my way," he blusters, "things would be very different."

But he does not really want the leading, directing, designing place for which he is not fit.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" is true for more business than that of being a king.

It means the head of any going concern has to carry a burden his payroll does not share.

He has to find the money. He has to fight the market. He has to face competitors anxious to do him in and plow him under. Worries may rob him of sleep while the underling knocks off at 5 and presents himself at the window on payday and shuts work out of his mind entirely when he is not on the job.

Nothing is easier than to denounce a man who is doing something for doing it wrong. To help him carry the load is harder than to talk against him.

It sometimes seems a mystery why men seek power when we observe the penalty they must pay for eminence in the calumny they draw upon themselves. A spotless name is not created overnight; it takes a long time to build, and there are those who will snatch it from us in an instant if they can. Gossip that wrecks, rumor that brands, is the sort that socially is preferred. Whether one rules a country, or an industrial enterprise, or a church, or any other institution, one must expect to be assailed by tongues that wag, and are vindictive, and desire to create a sensation rather than to communicate the truth.

The responsible thus are pilloried by the irresponsible; the industrious are defamed by the lazy; the patriots are lampooned and derided by some utterly wanting in the readiness to serve or sacrifice.

Yet there are always those who for duty's sake will take up their cross and carry it. They do not love power because they court men's wonder and men's praise. They are so constituted that they are not content with securities, the cushioned places, the safe berths. Those who like to hide, and be secure, and drowse in the shade, always will provide the ambitious with plenty to do.

AND IT WAS ONLY A LITTLE WHILE BACK SHE WAS REFUSING TO RECOGNIZE HIM IN PUBLIC

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The Xenia High School football team was to have played Antioch College at Xenia Saturday, but as Antioch did not fill the engagement and Xenia has been trying to get a game with Jamestown. They wish to get all the practice possible as they have several strong teams to play later in the season.

The faculty at Wilberforce University granted the boys permission to play football and they are a jolly set and are improving all the time.

The sixth annual reunion of the ex-soldiers and sailors of Greene county will be held at the Opera House in this city on Oct. 23.

Miss Clara Conner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Conner who reside north of Jamestown took her departure this morning for a long journey and at its end will meet her future husband, Mr. Stonaker, who is located at Los Angeles, Cal. The prospective groom was formerly a resident of the vicinity of Jamestown and the young people became acquainted that way.

FIVE PIQUA REGULARS OUT OF GAME FRIDAY

When Piqua High School football team met the Central High Eleven at the Fairgrounds gridiron Friday afternoon, five Piqua regulars were out of the game.

In policy with his plans to have a well-behaved team, Coach Raymond Mote, of the Piqua squad, suspended five regulars for smoking and violating other training rules. The players taken out of the lineup were, Edge, Magee, Tillman, Buettner and Eby all of them regulars.

As a result of the suspension order, Piqua fans believed Friday they were considerably handicapped in entering the game with Xenia.

COURT NEWS

WANTS DIVORCE.

Sadie Frank is plaintiff in a suit for divorce filed in Common Pleas Court Friday against Albert Frank, whom she married May 27, 1922. She charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, alleging the defendant threatened her with a knife and razor and beat her.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are underweight? Simply because to be underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a scrawny-looking fellow. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peppy, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again

WRONG METHODS.

"You must pay me higher wages," says the toiler, Richard Roe, "or a dozen battle-gages in your whiskers I will throw. You employers in high places try to bilk the men who sweat; you may grind some fellows' faces, but you can't grind mine, you bet." Says the haughty, stern employer, "If you'd quit, why go ahead; you are but the fool destroyer of the job that brings you bread. You may quit and go to thunder, quit forever and a day; I will not be trodden under by you lads who work for pay." Thus they always rag each other, when some differences rise; they can't meet as man and brother, light of kindness in their eyes. We should meet as friendly neighbors when a grievance is in sight, and the artisan who labors might be pleasant and polite; and the man who pays the wages might show patience in his gaze; that would beat the foolish rages that too often he displays. Energy is badly wasted when we kick each other's slats; let the golden rule be pasted on the lining of our hats.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

MOVE!

When we move, we think. And when we think, the world moves. And then, because the world does move, we must think. So think—and move!

Rain and trains wait for no man. So, if you want to keep dry and if you want to travel on time, move.

Suppose you do stumble and fall occasionally? Move! Get yourself up, pull yourself together, and then keep right on moving—up, forward, straight ahead.

Is your competitor pushing you? Is he behind you trying to crowd by and get ahead? Well, he can't if you just keep moving. And if you move fast enough he will soon tire of the pace you set.

Columbus moved a little further west than the others—and discovered America. Lincoln moved a little further along in thought when he said that no nation could exist half slave, half free—and he led a nation into eternal harmony. Edison moves with thought and hand—and science is enriched, you and I are made happier and more comfortable the world progresses. The men who count—move.

Keep moving. As straight as you can—but move. Don't wait to be pushed—you might be pushed over. Move by yourself and for yourself. If the goal you reach isn't the goal you want why—move again.

This day will never come again. Your work can never be done by anyone else. And your time is now. You will miss it, you will lose your chance—and your share, unless you move—now—and keep right on moving.

Dodge the ditch of Wait-awhile. Jump the wall of What's-the-use. Snap your finger at the ghost of I-never-had-a-chance. Laugh at the sign of rod-impassable and take the detour of Determination. Keep moving right along. There's plenty of room up front.

Besides even the best lipsticks are somewhat messy, the color comes off on one's handkerchief or the table napkin or even the cheek of the girl you enthusiastically rush to embrace. ASK REPORT ON SEIZURE OF SHIP

Washington, Oct. 19.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today called upon Prohibition Commissioner Haynes for report on the seizure of the Canadian Emerald, which the British government has made the basis of a protest to the state department, contending that the vessel was seized outside the three mile limit. The report will be submitted to Secretary of State Hughes.

she passes every day displays, she says, such fascinating ones in its window. I know the fatal fascination of these beauty shops—those little jars of cream and pots of pomade, and bottles of perfume are always so alluring!

I don't in the least see why little Miss Dolly should not make her own cheeks, pink since Nature has unkindly omitted to do it for her. I am aware of the fact that I shall have six letters of protest tomorrow morning, four of them probably from old gentlemen who never wanted their cheeks pink and consequently cannot see why any attractive young girl should. Nevertheless, when I answered Dolly's letter I told her to use rouge but with the warning that only the blitzy bit was to be put on, and that little so deftly that only an expert could tell its artificiality.

As for the lipstick, that's rather a

TO SEND OUT G. O. P. SPEECHES AT CANTON SATURDAY BY RADIO

Music and speeches at the big Republican meeting at Canton Saturday night will be broadcasted by radio, according to a telegram received Friday morning by L. T. Marshall, chairman of the Greene County Republican Executive Committee from W. H. Miller, chairman of the Republican State Campaign Committee.

U. S. Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will be the principal speaker on the Canton program and Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton will also speak on the same program. The famous Republican Glee Club of Columbus will furnish music during the evening and the entire program will be broadcasted. The program will start at 6:30 o'clock Central standard time, so that local people with receiving sets can tune up their apparatus and listen in on one of the biggest Republican meetings of the fall campaign.

JAMESTOWN

Word has been received of the death of James Scott Turnbull, 77, former Jamestown resident, who died in Viola, Kansas, Sept. 15. Funeral services were conducted at the United Presbyterian Church, Sunday, Sept. 17, and interment made at the Viola Cemetery.

Mr. Turnbull was a brother of J. L. Turnbull of Jamestown and was born in Jamestown, March 21, 1845, where he grew to manhood. Of a large family, of four boys and six girls, the one brother, Joseph J. Turnbull of Auston, is the only one surviving and was present at his brother's bedside when he died.

Mr. Turnbull graduated from Westminster College in 1871 and from the Xenia Theological Seminary in 1875. On completing his theological course he went to Wichita, Kansas, and after serving the United Presbyterian Church at Wichita for one year he was called to the Viola Community and in the fall of 1876 organized what was then known as the Ninnescah, but now as the Villa, United Presbyterian congregation. He was installed as a pastor of the congregation at the time and continued in this relationship until 1907.

He was married in Kansas, Oct. 22, 1874, to Miss Abbie D. Haskins who passed away April 1882. He was united in marriage to Mrs. Lillie J. Orr, Oct. 24, 1899, who passed away three years ago.

WHAT MR. HARDING WILL DO.

(News brought by Special Carrier Pigeon.)
The cabinet held its first meeting yesterday. There were present Mr. Harding, Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Hays and several other gentlemen whose names we do not seem to recall on the spur of the moment.

After reading all the newspaper reports carefully, we are able to give the following definite and concise, not to say intelligent, report of the session.

After the members had been introduced all around and had mumbled one another's names so as not to make any embarrassing errors, Mr. Hughes made a report on his attitude toward the war between Panama and Costa Rica. We don't know what it was he said.

Then Mr. Harding said what he would like to do in regard to this war. What he said has not been revealed.

Then there was a general discussion of the situation in Russia. We don't know a word they said, but we believe the situation in Russia is critical. It always is that, we are reliably informed.

Mr. Coolidge said something about the league of nations. It was hot stuff, take it from us, but you'll have to guess what it was.

From information we have gleaned from the cabinet meeting we are prepared to say that Harding will continue to play golf as usual while president. We hope we are betraying no confidence in mentioning this. Also, he will attend the Baptist church and will have grapefruit for breakfast three times a week.

When he wants to go anywhere he will not call a taxicab, but will use one of the White House automobiles.

These policies have already been made public and may be relied upon. As other important matters are revealed in future cabinet meetings we will report them.

The center of population still lingers in Indiana, but it would be different if the Indiana authors moved out.

READING FROM LEFT TO RIGHT.

We note that the following "well known" Russians are at the head of the Petrograd uprising:

Petrichenko, Yagovlenko, Savachenko, Putillin and Engineer Oyleskin.

Which leads us to wonder how some of the names become well known. After the Russians learn the names of their leaders, it is time to start another revolution.

The only one we remember having heard of before is Oyleskin, whose name sounds strangely familiar, perhaps because we once spent considerable time at Gloucester among the fishermen.

If it comes to electing a permanent president we hope Oyleskin gets it.

We see that a New York woman demands a divorce from a rich furrier. At first glance we would say that when any woman wants to separate herself from a rich furrier she is exemplifying the greatest case of abnegation on record.

One Wellington man has finally attained one of his boyhood ambitions, according to the "News." When he was a boy and had to undergo the home-made haircut he frequently wished that he might be bald-headed.

SCHOOL FEEDING PLAN MEETS WITH INITIAL SUCCESS

The plan of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the Xenia city schools, to feed the children of the first three grades, is meeting with a decided success, with the adoption of the plan by the members of the Central Parent-Teacher Association, and the McKinley Association at the meetings held by the two organizations, Thursday afternoon.

The McKinley organization voted to inaugurate the plan, of feeding the children a half pint of milk and two graham crackers daily for a period of one month, and if at the end of that time, the plan meets with success and can be financed the feeding will be continued.

The Central organization also adopted the plan, the members feeling confident that it will meet with permanent success, and the organization will start the feeding November 6.

Mrs. J. W. Stevens, one of the delegates from the association to the State meeting, held at Columbus recently, gave an interesting talk before the members of the McKinley of nutrition, as discussed at the Columbus session. Mrs. Stevens talked on the subject of the importance of nutrition in the child's life, and the program of the McKinley Parent-Teacher meeting, included a song number by Mrs. Arthur Perrell, and refreshments.

Mrs. Margaret Kelley, public health nurse for the Social Service League, gave an interesting address before the members of the Central organization on the subject of nutrition, her explanation of this important phase in a child's life being received with interest by the mothers and teachers.

The Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the city is making plans to present a home talent play in November, plans for an offering being presented by a representative of a play house in the south. The plans of the Federation also include a market to be held Saturday, October 28.

TAKES POISON IN THEATER

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—Subject to epileptic fits and fearing that his fiancée would break their engagement because of the affliction from which he suffered, Gordon Wylis, 25, swallowed poison in a downtown motion picture theater last night and is in a critical condition at the hospital as a result. The girl, Miss Hazel Lovett, and her brother were with him at the time and Miss Lovett declared that she would marry him as planned on Saturday if he recovered.

Wilbur Le Gette, a traveling salesman, declared in Los Angeles, he is the man referred to by Asa G. Candler, Atlanta, Ga., Coca Cola king, as having been the man Mrs. Onezime de Bouchelle, of New Orleans, Candler's jilted fiancée, asked to enter her room in an Atlanta hotel. Le Gette asserts that the charge is untrue and that he will defend Mrs. Bouchelle's reputation.

MILK, THE GREATEST FOOD

Marked improvements have been made in methods of keeping it fresh

In the preservation of foods, an art which has reached considerable perfection in these days, it is interesting to note how important a part is played by opposite forces of nature. For instance, after milk is obtained from the cow, it is necessary to reduce it to low temperature so as to inhibit the growth of bacteria.

Later, however, an opposite plan is essential. By prolonged heating of the milk in a moderately high temperature the bacteria or germs which are unhealthful are killed and the milk, unchanged in its digestibility is rendered safe for use by the infant or invalid.

Both of these methods are used in their simplest form in the preparation of Horlick's Malted Milk, so as to obtain the highest purity of the food. The absence of moisture is an efficient safeguard against the growth of bacteria and it also makes the product capable of being taken easily to all parts of the world.

It was no little achievement of Horlick, who originated malted milk, to make a product which retains all the nutritive value of malted grain and rich milk and which produces at a moment's notice a food-drink that is sustaining, invigorating and also delicious to the taste.

"OUR VALUES ALWAYS BEST"

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 23 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER $10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 84th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

FOOTBALL CONTESTS ARE SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY THIS WEEK

Because of interest in the Michigan-Ohio State football game Saturday and the desire of many college athletes in Ohio to be on hand when these two Western conference gladiators get together, a number of important week-end games this week are being played on Friday.

This fact divides interest for the week end, for Ohio Conference fans can watch the program of the Ohio championship campaign on Friday without detracting from their interest in the stadium celebration at Columbus. Many Xenia and Greene County people will be on hand when Ohio and Michigan tangle Saturday in the presence of 63,000 spectators.

The Friday Ohio conference games that will claim interest before the Big Ten battles, are the Wittenberg-Denison clash at Granville, the Otterbein-Wooster argument and the Kenyon and Mt. Union set-to. Of these the Wittenberg-Denison fracas is probably the most important. Wittenberg is undefeated, and a beating now would put the Lutherans out of the running. Denison was walloped by Ohio University last week and with nothing to lose and everything to gain, the Baptists will fight like Tarzans. The unexpected strength shown by Otterbein will make it necessary for Wooster to use everything it has in that contest, and Coach Boles will not take any chances with the Westerville combination. The Kenyon and Mt. Union game will be of lesser importance.

Saturday's principal affair in Ohio Conference circles will be the Ohio Wesleyan-Cincinnati game at Cincinnati. The Methodists are undefeated in the Conference and the Bear Cats have not yet played a Conference game and were defeated in their three starts against other combinations. Coach Fa-La-ren's gridders have sworn not to shave until they have scored a touchdown and the Barber College alumni will be out rooting for them strong to beat the Delaware gang.

Miami will play Ohio Northern at Oxford, and Miami will find a tougher battle than expected on its hands, it is said. Oberlin should have little trouble with little Hiram Saturday, the Hiram crowd being pretty well battered up anyway. Ohio University should make short work of Western Reserve, as the Clevelanders have been taking the short end of the score everywhere. The Akron-Case battle is of little importance as they both are out of the championship running.

St. Xavier will play St. Ignatius of Cleveland, a non-conference team, but a win for the Cincinnati eleven will give it the Catholic championship of Ohio. Muskingum is also meeting a non-conference team in Broadus and should win handily. Wilmington is playing its week end game at Wilmington with Kentucky Wesleyan.

Dopesters figure Harvard to wallop little Centre in the east Saturday in the one out-standing inter-sectional clash. The meeting will be the third, each team having won one game. If Harvard wins, athletic relations will probably be severed between these two teams.

COUNTRY STILL NEEDS GOOD FIVE CENT CIGAR SAYS MARSHALL; MEANING MISUNDERSTOOD

Washington, Oct. 20.—Thomas Riley Marshall, former vice president of the United States now back in governmental harness as a member of the coal fact finding commission after a vacation since March 4, 1921, is still looking for that "good five cent cigar."

"I never have found it," sighed the sage of the Wabash today. "I've travelled lots of miles, and probably had a million cigars sent me since I remarked that what this country needs was a good five-cent cigar but it is still elusive."

The former vice president pulled thoughtfully on a cigar that cost 15 cents.

"You know," he said, "that remark of mine has been wholly misinterpreted."

"What I meant by saying that what this country needed was a good five cent cigar was this: "We all of us, should quit living so high."

"Trouble is that for the last few years we have all been advocating industry and thrift for our neighbors while we continued to live high. 'Work and save' is all right for the other fellow, but it loses some of its attraction when personally applied."

"The five cent cigar was what you reporting fellows call a figure of speech for getting down to earth, buckling down to thrift and work."

"Haven't circumstances pretty much caused people to do that?" he was asked.

"I haven't noticed it," was his dry

rejoinder. "You'll notice that every American must have his fiver these days."

"This country still needs that same old five cent cigar."

CAMPAIGN AGAINST BEER AMENDMENT IN OHIO STARTED

Columbus, O., (Special).—The dries of Ohio have their campaign against the beer amendment in full swing. Organizations have been formed in all the counties under the direction of the Ohio Dry Federation. Those in charge of dry organization work declare the people are stirred as much as in the great state campaigns leading up to prohibition.

Hundreds of community meetings are being held each week. For the most part these meetings are addressed by local speakers, often by women. In fact, according to dry leaders, the women are leading in enthusiasm and in determination to defeat the beer amendment.

The state is being blanketed with dry literature giving the reasons why the beer amendment should be defeated. Millions of pages of this printed matter is being carried to the voters. The Ohio Dry Federation is distributing a couple of million sample amendment ballots marked for a vote against legalizing beer. Everything possible is being done to inform the voters and to rally them to the polls.

A public statement of a wet leader to the effect that the wets are being aided financially by eastern liquor interests is being used by the dries to influence the voters to repel this brewery invasion, and the appeal is having its effect.

Dry are also appealing to the patriotism of voters to defeat the beer amendment because it seeks to nullify a federal law, and dries assert Ohio should not disgrace herself by being pointed to as a nullification state.

Advocates of the beer amendment, however, have so far failed to convince the voters that the approval of their proposal would not have these results:

It would legalize the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer in the state.

It would open the way for the return of the beer saloons.

It would legalize the possession of liquor in the home and would make the home a saloon.

It would break down the enforcement law of the state and would render void the Crabbe enforcement act, as that act says one-half of one per cent of alcohol is intoxicating.

It would place Ohio in opposition to the federal government.

It would multiply the difficulties of dry law enforcement.

It would menace the Volstead law and the eighteenth amendment.

That the brewers' proposal is a nullification scheme is so apparent that it is stirring the Civil War veterans who fought 60 years ago against nullification. Norris Post, G. A. R., Postoria, recently adopted the following:

"Norris Post No. 27, department of Ohio, G. A. R., goes on record unanimously to endorse and uphold the Volstead and Crabbe laws and the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution. We offered our lives for the old flag and we can not stand to see it dishonored and disgraced."

Ohio wets are also active. They have their workers busy over the state, and are conducting an effective publicity campaign, urging support of their amendment in order to defend the "constitutional rights" of individuals.

Wet advocates admit their purpose in urging the adoption of the beer amendment is to bring back to Ohio and legalize beer of the alcoholic content as was sold in saloons prior to prohibition. Another purpose is, through a victory in Ohio, to influence congress to modify the federal dry law and legalize beer throughout the country.

So the Ohio campaign is national in scope and is being watched with great interest by wets and dries from ocean to ocean.

This beer and anti-beer fight is overshadowing the contest between the two political parties. Ohio voters are discussing the beer amendment rather than the tariff, foreign relations, or other questions which politicians are trying to drag into the campaign.

Both wets and dries will make a big effort to get their voters to the polls, the dries especially urging the women to use the ballot against their old enemy, John Barleycorn. That they will do so there is little doubt.

TAKES POISON IN THEATER

Cincinnati, Oct. 19—Subject to epileptic fits and fearing that his fiancée would break their engagement because of the affliction from which he suffered, Gordon Wylis, 25, swallowed poison in a downtown motion picture theater last night and is in a critical condition at the hospital as a result. The girl, Miss Hazel Lovett and her brother were with him at the time and Miss Lovett declared that she would marry him as planned on Saturday if he recovered.

'No Blood Upon My Hands' He Declares in First Statement.

Lavallette, N. J., Oct. 20—"There is no blood upon my hands."

This emphatic declaration was made here today by Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall of New Brunswick whose husband, Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall was found murdered together with a beautiful choir singer, his church, Mrs. James Mills.

Stevens has been called to New Brunswick for interrogation several times. The present is the first statement he has made to the press. Hitherto his lips have been sealed for all save the county prosecutors and detectives.

"If I had guilty knowledge of this awful thing that happened at New Brunswick," continued Stevens, "my conscience would accuse me without ceasing all day and in the silent watches of the night."

MAN CONFESSES TO HAVING FORTY WIVES ARRESTED IN DAYTON ON OTHER CHARGE

A string of 40 wives extending from 1890 until the present, represents the matrimonial ventures of William Lawrence Jones, 56, colored, arrested by Dayton police Thursday, in whom the officers believe they have captured the biggest bigamist in the country.

Jones was arrested for issuing a fraudulent check and soon afterward confessed that the names and addresses of 40 women contained in a book he carried, were all former wives, who he had married in wholesale lots, changing, discarding and taking on new spouses with every change of weather.

His story as told Dayton police is a romantic one. Jones was born in Oxford, Pa., in 1866 and educated for the ministry. He preached until 1890 when he met and married Mary Cain, of London. Eight more wives he met and married when he met Laura Love, Chillicothe, in 1905, who possessed a mail fortune. It was then he decided to "go straight" and lived with Laura until 1917 when he married Optree Looney, Paris, Tenn. From then on his adventures on the sea of matrimony followed close upon one another until last year he went through ten marriage ceremonies and in the first ten months of this year, has married 14 times. All of his wives are living, so far as he knows and none have been divorced.

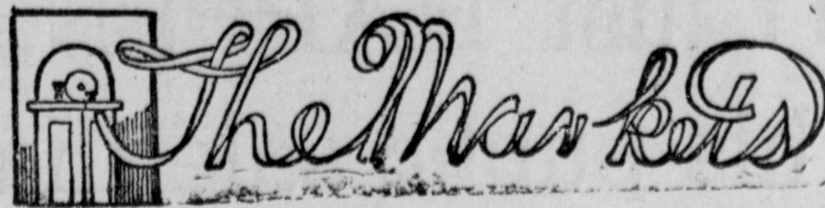

Jones was married nine times in Chicago at various times and used the same name each time. He has four wives in Illinois, four in Pennsylvania, four in New York, six each in Ohio and Michigan, two each in Indiana and Tennessee and one each in Missouri, Kansas and Wisconsin.

Each of his wives between the ages of 24 and 33 when he married them and were all pretty, Jones boasted. The book containing the director of his wives also contained newspaper clippings of his marriages and the "splurges" he made at each time. He admitted passing many fraudulent checks to pay for entertaining his various wives, Jones said he was only arrested once and served 22 months in Pennsylvania Western penitentiary for bigamy.

His list of wives, their addresses and the date when he married them follows: Mary Cain, London, 1890; Cora Richey, Hogan, Mich., 1891; Sulta Winburn, Battle Creek, Mich., 1894; Della Cortley, Newark, 1895; Lovina Bindley, Baltimore, Ind., 1897; Edith Honza, Bloomington, Ill., 1900; Lizzie Hogue, Memphis, Tenn., 1901; Leona Stratton, Mason City, Ill., 1902; Laura Lott, Chillicothe, Ohio, 1903; Optree Looney, Paris, Tenn., 1917; Florence Carter, Monsier, Pa., 1918; Garnett Turner, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1918; Gertrude Davis, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1918; Atta Rose, Steubenville, 1918; Blanche Van Hook, Columbus, O., 1920; Mamey Morton, Chicago, Ill., 1921; Elizabeth Morton, Chicago, Ill., 1921; Daisy Collins, Chicago, 1921; Tillie Hector, Chicago, 1921; Edith

Senator Capper has been making speeches to the Kansas farmers during October. In these he has sought to clarify the purpose of the farm bloc in Congress and to emphasize the issues of paramount importance to agriculture.

"The only difference between the agricultural bloc and the Wall Street bloc and other big interest blocs," says the Senator with his customary vigor, "is that the latter blocs always work under cover while the agricultural bloc operates in the open. There is this difference between the farm bloc and all other blocs which for years have existed: The farm bloc is not out to block anything that is for this country's good. We are out to get a square deal for agriculture."

The farm bloc is fighting for an immediate and substantial reduction in the freight rates on agricultural products. It is also gunning in behalf of a one-two-and-three year credit system for farmers, based on their product as collateral, and will push this legislation at the next session of Congress. The farmers must have better prices than he is now receiving or he will soon out of business, says Capper, and he cannot get better prices until he has a credit system that will enable him to market his products in an orderly fashion. The farm bloc is in close touch with farming interests and has its fingers on a vital spot.

Secretary Wallace recently made a review of the measures taken by the present administration to relieve the farmer. They include the tariff, War Finance corporation act, increased capitalization of the Farm Land banks, agricultural representation on Federal Reserve board, packers' and stockyards' act, and grain futures act, not omitting protection for farmers' cooperative.

Several of these measures are providing helpful, but none go to the root of the farmer's trouble, which is the lack of proportion between supply and demand. A rural credit system with the aid of farm organizations will do more to put the farmer in control of his market than a sheaf of ordinary laws. Part of the farmer's trouble is beyond the reach of legislation. Congress cannot legislate peace and stability for Europe.

Various writers have deplored the tendency of many farmers, perhaps a majority—to "mine" their land instead of cultivate it, thus exhausting its riches and leaving it a poor inheritance for future generations. The wide use of fertilizer and the scientific rotation of crops counteract the depletion of soil fertility in some degree, but the need for wider recognition that soil must be rejuvenated is a necessity. A great many farmers are neglecting their soil, and getting all they can out of it at the least possible expense, simply because the prices they receive for grain are not sufficient to pay taxes, wages and living expenses.

STOCKS

Flare-ups are inevitably succeeded by reactions however strong, the market's foundation. Commission houses believe that prices are due for a consistent advance between now and midwinter, owing to increased industrial activity and profits. Some stocks will do no more than hold their ground, others may lose. Still other stocks which have been neglected, will advance. Stock dividends are an unsubstantial basis for a sharp rise, but other factors justify the upward trend. The Near East difficulty has been ironed out for the time.

Grain

The advance in grain prices is highly gratifying, not only to the farmers, but to business men and thinking persons everywhere, who see that the farmer's prosperity is inextricably bound up with that of the country at large. The trade has apparently come to realize that grain prices are safer and more profitable than the short side. Grains could not remain low indefinitely with wages and prices in general high. Traffic congestion has aided prices and frightened exporters and foreigners into making purchases which they might otherwise have delayed.

Livestock (Chicago Market)

The cattle market is suffering from car shortage and Northwestern growers are shipping under handicaps. Sale of meats at home and abroad is encouraging and packers' reports are cheerful. Prime cattle went to new high levels for the year, while warmed-up stuff was a drag on the market. The country is buying cattle as fast as it can get them. Plenty of money is available. The hog market is in a healthy condition and adapting itself to the season.

Wool

Wool is in demand throughout the world and the markets all show a tendency to strengthen. Holders are not inclined to shade prices. Fine wools are scarce. The stock of medium and low grade wool is ample for the time. Manufacturers have been showing quite a little interest in medium wools. This market has been consistently firm ever since the emergency tariff went into effect and promises to remain strong.

Cotton

The New England mills are very active and all the mills are buying cotton in fair quantities. Prices on cotton goods are high enough to warrant 22c cotton. Liverpool and Manchester advances helped the market as did temporary settlement of the Turkish trouble. American agriculture is profiting by the strength in cotton, just as it will profit by the appreciation in grains.

Metals

The iron and steel industry complains of car shortage, but is enjoying prosperity notwithstanding. The iron industry has recovered much ground lost during the strikes. Buyers are cautious in their orders, hoping for lower prices. The coke situation is easing. Fabricated steel orders are declining due to the season and

WAITED TILL THE COWS CAME HOME

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gasms in the stomach and colic attacks. The specialist, our family doctor sent me to Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. the feeling that prices are at their peak.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Menthos-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Menthos-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

The strikingly beautiful outlines of the Copper-Clad Range stops every woman. As she looks and admires, she finds that it is true beauty—the beauty of simple elegance and perfect proportions—of fine finish—the thoroughbred of the Range World.

Look for hinges on the above—two only on the oven door and they are long and smooth. There are six other doors yet not a hinge in sight—not a catch, nor hook nor latch. Built like fine automobiles, the hinges are all inside.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

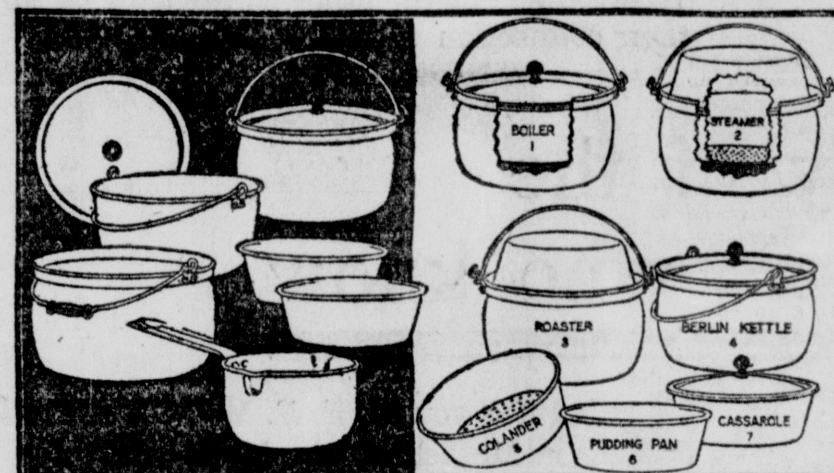

With White Enamel Trimmings

"Copper-Clad" means pure Sheet Copper is placed BETWEEN the sweaty asbestos and range body. To place it elsewhere would be like climbing on top of a roof to get out of the wet.

SET OF ELEGANT

This ALUMINUM WARE Free

IF YOU BUY A COPPER-CLAD RANGE NEXT WEEK

"Free" means that this ware does not cost Copper-Clad buyers a single penny. It is a reward for buying while the "Copper-Clad Crank" is here and is offered by him to justify you in attending this sale.

This ware is very substantial and just the kind that you would select if buying for your own use. The 7-in-1 convertible cooker takes the place of seven different vessels, as shown by figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. You can use this utensil in some form every day.

Free to every Copper-Clad buyer during this sale.

Come—See the Asbestos Sweat.

COPPER-CLAD WEEK Next Week, Oct. 23-28

No matter whether you want a range now or next year or any other time, it will pay you to come and see the Copper-Clad Crank make the Asbestos Sweat.

He takes any piece of Asbestos, puts it between two iron plates—heats it—and shows you the sweat. You can roll it up in drops with your finger.

Every good range must be lined with asbestos to hold the heat around the oven and keep down fuel cost. Every time the range cools off, the asbestos takes moisture out of the fresh air circulating through the range like a blotter takes up water. When you fire up, this moisture is driven by the heat to the outside against the cold range body and starts Sweat-Rust on the inside where you can't get at it even though you know it rusts. Sweat-Rust ruins thousands and thousands of otherwise good ranges every year. When the range body is gone, the range is done for.

The Copper-Clad Idea Is "Pure Sheet

Copper Between the Asbestos and Range Body"

Copper never rusts. It may tarnish but it will last centuries. There are Copper Domes that have been defying the elements for hundreds of years. So, when we say a "Copper-Clad can't rust out," we mean that the copper lining overcomes all internal rust. An oiled rag will keep the outside free of rust—and there are no fussy ornaments full of rivets and bolts to skin your hands. The Copper-Clad wipes clean like a dish.

If these things are so—you should know it. Not by hearsay—but by the evidence of your own eyes. Remember, this "Copper-Clad Crank" is here to tell—to show—to explain. He delights in it. You won't "bother" him by asking questions. He has oodles of time to answer and he is here to "Show You."

MACHINES CRASH; NO ONE INJURED

Three machines were damaged but no one was injured when an Oldsmobile driven by a man named Webster colored, struck the Ford coupe owned and driven by John Haren, South Detroit street, at Detroit and Second streets at 11:30 Friday morning and then collided with the third machine a Dodge, parked in front of the Fetz Bros. grocery.

Harben was driving east on Second street and had almost passed the side for south bound traffic when his car was struck broadside by the Olds. The impact turned the Ford around and Webster's car then ran into the

VOTE FOR BEST MAN SAYS SPEAKER AT ROTARY MEETING

Merritt Hitchcock, of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club, addressed the members of the Xenia Rotary Club, following the regular club luncheon, at the Elks' Club Friday.

Non-partisan politics was the subject of Mr. Hitchcock's address, the speaker urging that every voter should cast his vote for the best man and not the party.

J. L. Alman, member of the local Rotary Club, former superintendent of the Hercules Powder Plant at Goes Station, who is leaving soon for his new position at Columbus, Kansas, was given a farewell by his fellow Rotarians, Dr. B. R. McClellan speaking on behalf of the club, wishing Mr. Alman success in his new work.

Members of the club presented Mr. Alman with a Rotary pin as a farewell gift.

The first issue of the Rotary Club Bulletin, which the members of the organization are planning to put out each week, was presented to the members at the meeting Friday. The paper, a clever take-off on the members, with jokes at their expense, caused much commend in the club circle.

BUSINESS CLUB CELEBRATES FIRST YEAR OF ACTIVITY

Marked with more rapid growth and progress than characterizes the usual "one year olds" the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club, celebrated the first birthday of the club's organization, with a dinner for the club members and had as their guests the officers of the Dayton and Springfield Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Thursday night.

Seventy-five business women attended the affair, which was one of the largest and most enjoyable of the meetings scheduled on the year's program. The guests were seated at attractive tables about the social room of the church, prettily decorated with hallowe'en symbols, gay witches and hobgoblins, combining with the weird pumpkin faces, which alternated with fall leaves and other decorations in carrying out the scheme.

The guests were grouped by numbers, and were led to the tables, in grand march formations, by a "band" composed of club members wearing clever caps.

Miss Jean Elwell, presided over the dinner as toastmistress, and introduced several members and guests for short talks and toasts, including, Miss Margaret Stein, president of the Dayton Business Club, Miss Min Heagle, officer of the Springfield club, Miss Elsie Weber, of the Xenia club, who toasted to the progress of the new club and Miss Edna Bloom, who as first speaker, welcomed the visitors.

Following the dinner the club members enjoyed a splendid address by Mrs. William M. Wilson, concerning her recent sojourn through Europe, this summer. Mrs. Wilson was introduced by Miss Elwell, who in introducing her to her audience mentioned her candidacy as representative from Greene County in the State Legislature.

Mrs. Wilson's talk included a vivid description of her party's visit to the Passion Play at Oberammergau her audience with the Pope and gave amusing incidents of her foreign trips. She gave a clear description of the characters of the play, the customs of the country, and gave a particularly interesting contrast of the high standards of temperance in America, with that of the European nations.

Miss Heagle as spokesman for the Springfield club, in her clever talk, presented the Xenia club a handsome bouquet of roses, honoring the club's first birthday, which in turn, Miss Allegra Hawes, president of the local club presented to Mrs. Wilson in appreciation of her address.

The social meeting of the members was followed by a business session, when the names of four new members were admitted to the club, making a total membership of sixty-seven.

The reports of the various club committees included the announcement of the year's program by the program committee.

Several classes within the club, who are planning a program for the winter which will add to the enjoyment of the club activities, are being organized and making definite plans. The program of the year, which will be announced later is hoped to bring proof to the Xenia public of the progress of the new club.

LEGAL DOCUMENT SURVIVES 155 YEARS OF REMOVAL FROM ONE PLACE TO ANOTHER

Some time back before the Revolutionary War changed the complexion of all previous maps, a deed was made in the Parish of Landsvalley, County of Breronynean, in good old merrie England, and duly inscribed in painful Old English with quill and ink on parchment.

The other day Deputy County Surveyor Werter P. McKay, West Third Street, uncovered the ancient record in some of the effects of late Thomas Jones, the legal document having survived 155 years of removal from place to place, the ravages of time and travel and the destructive operations of dust and age.

The old deed cries out of silken knee breeches, caught, at the knee with large silver buckles, of silken caudles of tie-less long shoes surrounded by huge buckles of long-tailed and vari-colored coats, lace cuffs and fancy frills, about the neck of powdered wigs and pig tails, of rosy-cheeked mayors and long-stemmed pipes and of jolly stolidity.

Even at his elbow there might be a stein of—but that is something else, that has elapsed.

Sitting magnificently at his stilted desk, the merrie Britisher had set ye quill to ye paper and had "transcribed" with his peculiar indifference between "s's" and "f's" the substance of the deed in laborious Old English print. For the deed that has come into possession of Mr. McKay was done December 25, 1767, which bears mute evidence that unlike the present legal documents executed on the holiday, were proper and valid.

The deed records the transfer of five acres of land, including a dwelling house, smiths forge and other accessories between Thomas Jones, his good wife, James Jones and Samuel Jones, on the one hand, and William Prithard, on the other. The deed was recorded under the seal of Great Britain, under the sovereign reign of His Majesty Lord George the Third, sovereign of Great Britain and of France and of Ireland and the consideration was named as five shillings. The Jones' set their marks there to in lieu of signatures, and two hearty Britishers who had never heard of the Declaration of Independence affixed their signatures as witnesses.

The parchment is remarkably well preserved, the ink is unfaded and the writing legible, with the exception of the difficulty necessary in interpreting the spelling of the day, and the closely done inscription. Mr. McKay presented the deed in the office of County Recorder W. F. Thomas Wednesday with the request that it be recorded, and there it attracted considerable attention. Mr. McKay will keep the relic.

HOLD BONUS CHECK FOR LOCAL MAN HOME UNKNOWN

Who knows the whereabouts of John G. Laybourne, who formerly lived here?

Commander Jacob Colp, of Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion is asking this question.

Laybourne put in an application for Ohio State adjusted compensation from Xenia and gave his address as "Mooreland Apartments." Laybourne does not live at these apartments now and postal authorities cannot find him. He left no forwarding address.

As the check for adjusted compensation will have to be cashed before November 3, Commander Colp is anxious to locate Laybourne and will appreciate any information that will lead Legion authorities to get in touch with him.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER 5

I had by this time become in a way accustomed to Walter's rapsohodies, yet I felt a keener stab than ever before as he continued to rave over the beautiful blonde. I did not deny her beauty, no one could. But to hear one's husband rave by the hour over another woman, declare he would do anything to get her to "sit" for him, isn't the pleasantest thing in the world, even taking into account his artistic nature.

"She may feel insulted if you ask her to sit for you, even if you succeed in finding her," I suggested.

"I won't let her. I'll bet she's poor—not rich rather. Her clothes weren't those of a wealthy girl."

"I thought she was very nicely dressed! that she looked very well."

"She'd look like an angel in anything."

"Or nothing!" I broke in. "Do be sensible, Walter. Don't think every good-looking woman you see will pose for you."

"That girl's going to if it takes me a year to get her to. You mark what I say." And when Walter used that tone, argument was useless.

Two days afterward he came home all excited.

"I've found her, Doreen! She's half promised to pose for me."

"Found who?" I pretended ignorance.

"Why, that beautiful blonde we saw Saturday. And by Jove, she's even lovelier than I thought!"

"Who is she?"

"Her name is Helen Ralstrom. She lives with an aunt up in the Bronx. She's taking a course as a journalist, thinks she'll be a writer. I told her she'd mistaken her calling—that the world of art, not letters, needed her. I think she needs money because after I talked a bit she said she'd let me know in a few days. But I shan't wait! I'll give her just two days and then go up there again."

I felt as if a cold hand clutched my heart. Something warned me that this beautiful blonde would bring me unhappiness. A vague desire to do some thing to prevent Walter seeing her again possessed me. Yet I knew nothing I could say would have any effect—not in the mood he was in.

No one now would please him by this one girl over whose beauty he raved, this Helen Ralstrom.

Walter had his way. She consented to sit for him. He was wild with delight, talked of nothing else but her charms and his picture with her as the central figure. I could not help acknowledging that all his enthusiasm was that of the artist, that little or nothing of the admiration of a man for a woman was in it.

"As long as" he looks upon her only as a model I am safe," I said to myself. But I had caught a gleam of admiration of him in her eyes that day on the train, at least I thought it was. She had glanced up from heavily lashed violet eyes when Walter had asked me if she wasn't a beauty. He had spoken unguardedly and probably she heard it. It was then I thought I saw the gleam of admiration as she looked at my handsome husband, his face lit up with interest.

She lived with her aunt, Walter had said, was probably a quiet nice girl, and I was making myself miserable over nothing. I was an artist's wife, and should rejoice when he found a suitable model for his work instead of grouching because I was jealous.

I was rather ashamed of myself at times. I knew Walter was an artist when I married him, that he was temperamental to a degree, and that he had girl and women models. He was really a figure painter. I had known all these things, yet I allowed myself to be made miserable because he did just what I knew he would do.

Father had said laughingly: "Being an artist's wife. Doreen, is almost as bad as being a doctor's. When we were first married your mother had many a worrisome hour for fear I would elope with one of my pretty young patients. Don't let yourself become jealous of your husband's business."

"Of course I won't!" I had answered gaily, then urged Mother to tell me all about the time when she was jealous of dear old stodgy dad, who was the most domestic of husbands when he could be free of patients.

"I was young, Doreen, and very much in love with your father," she told me. "I foolishly thought every other girl looked at him with my eyes. If he had a particularly pretty young woman patient I was miserable. But after several illuminating lessons I learn to trust him, to put my jealousy aside. I had to, dear, if I were to be happy. You will do well not to let yourself begin to distrust Walter because of his studio work. It will save you unhappiness."

"But it was different with a doctor."

FARM AUCTION

TIME: One p. m., Wednesday, October 25, 1922

Place: At the Buildings on the Joseph A. Wilson farm, on the Hardin and Lockington pike (sometimes called the Newbern pike,) about seven miles northwest of Piqua, and a half mile south of Hardin station.

By order of The Miami Conservancy District, there will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, thirteen farms located in Washington and Turtle Creek Townships, Shelby County. Tracts listed below as No. 9 and No. 13 will be offered separately and as a whole.

All these farms will be sold from the one place named above, the sale to begin at one o'clock sharp.

- FARM NO. 1. 62.44 acres. On traction, at edge of town; house has bath and electricity. Somebody's chance.
- FARM NO. 2. 430.51 acres. One mile from town, plenty of good buildings; bank barn 50x136 feet. Two good houses. A fine home and a money-making farm.
- FARM NO. 3. 180.55 acres. Conveniently located to school, railroad station, and county seat.
- FARM NO. 4. 230 acres. A good farm with good buildings, in a good location. Seven miles from county seat, on a good pike.
- FARM NO. 5. 159 acres. A well located, well built, and well watered farm.
- FARM NO. 6. 159 acres. A strictly A-1 farm. Six and a half miles from county seat, near elevator, school, town and churches. Good gravel pit that produces a fine income.
- FARM NO. 7. 316 acres. At crossing of Big Four and the Lockington and Hardin Pike. Plenty of good buildings for this sized farm, including A-1 tenant buildings.
- FARM NO. 8. 173.26 acres. On Bauer Road, between Lockington and Hardin Pike (east) and Uno Pike (west.) A productive farm with a large proportion of fine bottom land.
- FARM NO. 9. 139.87 acres. A tract of land suitable for general farming. Pleasantly located home, with an extra good set of buildings. This farm will be offered alone and with farm No. 13.
- FARM NO. 10. 29.64 acres. On east side of Uno Pike, running from the pike to Loramie Creek. Eight miles northwest of Piqua. This tract has a large stretch of water front, and nearby, on a hill, a grove of young walnut. Fine summer cottage or camp site. Good pasture tract. No buildings on this tract.
- FARM NO. 11. 175.30 acres. West of Uno Pike, between the Houston and Sidney Pike on the north, and a public road on the south. Good gravel pit on this farm.
- FARM NO. 12. 89.48 acres. One of the finest one-man farms to be found in Shelby County. Good land, good buildings, good location.
- FARM NO. 13. 186.64 acres. This tract has some first class bottom land on it, but is mostly good pasture upland. No buildings on this land, but it adjoins farm No. 9, which will be offered separately and with this farm. Farm No. 9 has ample buildings for both tracts.

This block of farms is being offered with full regard to present farming conditions. The terms are liberal, and the interest rate is low.

TERMS OF SALE

20% of purchase price to be paid on date of sale, when sale contract will be entered into. Balance in four equal annual payments, with interest at six per cent, payable semi-annually. Possession will be given to purchaser on March 1, 1923, subject to the present tenants' interest in growing wheat, and to the standard Conservancy easement. Purchaser gets our interest in growing wheat, without extra payment.

The District will pay taxes and assessments, if any, due in December, 1922; purchaser to pay taxes and assessments, if any, due and payable in June, 1923, and thereafter. There is no Conservancy assessment on this land, or on any other land in Shelby County.

8-Hour Battery Charging-8 Hour Save Yourself Rental Charges

We are charging batteries in 8 hours with our new Hobart Brothers Constant Potential Charging equipment.

No OVERHEATING or other injury to battery. Each battery charged independently. Each battery receives just the right amount of current at all times. We give the battery a better charge and in a fraction of the time required by the old method.

Leave your battery with us in the morning and get it back fully charged the same day. Or if you are going to be in town all day just store your car in the garage here while we charge your battery.

I have had 11 years experience charging batteries and have used about all kinds of charging equipment; but this new Constant Potential system has them all beat. At first I thought a battery could not be charged up in eight hours, but after a thorough investigation of this Constant Potential System I had to be convinced. I also found that the biggest and oldest battery company in the world is recommending Constant Potential Battery Charging to their service stations. Also the Vesta Battery Corporation, one of the most conservative battery concerns, with a record of over 25 years of successful business back of them have just recently given their approval to Constant Potential Battery Charging.

Some of the firms who are using and recommending the Hobart Brothers Constant Potential Charging equipment in this section of the state are:—

| THE BANNER ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY | OTIS RUBY |
| Exide Battery Distributor | Exide Station |
| 109 S. Perry St. Dayton, Ohio. | 108 N. Detroit St. Bellefontaine, Ohio. |
| EAGLE BATTERY & SUPPLY COMPANY | BECKMAN SERVICE STATION |
| Battery Manufacturers | |
| Burkhart and Garland Ave., Dayton, Ohio. | Spring and Central Ave. Lima, Ohio. |

You see Constant Potential Battery Charging is not in the experimental stage but is in practical every day use by many of the most prosperous battery concerns.

Come in and see this wonderful Constant Potential Charging outfit in operation. Let us explain how we charge a battery in 8 hours without overheating or other injury to the battery.
